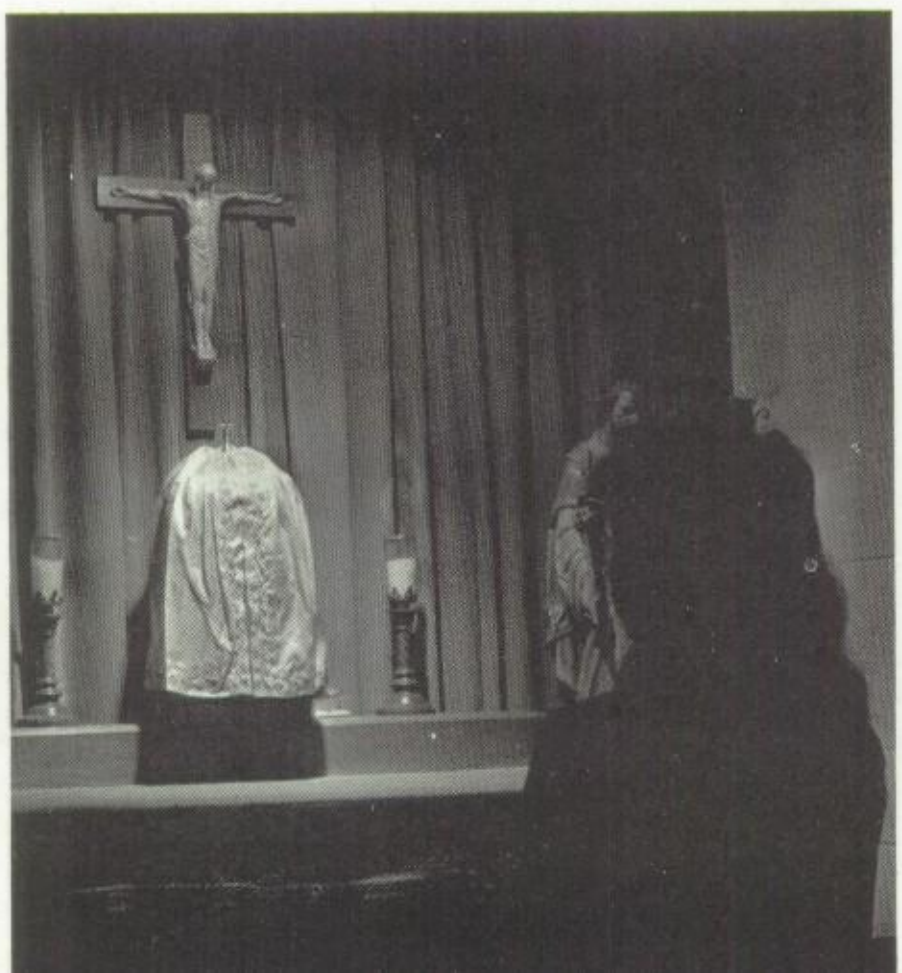
We Meet the Challenge in

DURING A LATIN TEST — a rare moment of reflection for a busy man, Brother Daniel Bengert.

HIDDEN IN A SHADOW a girl makes a brief visit to chapel.



A FAMILIAR SCENE AFTER SCHOOL — near the gym entrance, waiting for rides home.

Our School Life

As defined in a dictionary a challenge is a calling to a game or contest, a demand to answer and explain, or simply a dare.

School life presents its own distinctive type of challenge. The Academic curriculum poses the most impressive problems to the students. We learn to accept the challenge of assignments and projects, and to stick to them until we have done them to the best of our ability. The athletic teams face rivals who are respected for their records in football, basketball, and baseball. The challenge in an athletic contest is to play with a determination to win. In a new life of activities and social events we acquire new friends and learn to work together in planning homecomings, pep assemblies, and proms.

Meeting the challenge successfully, the St. Joseph student after graduation will enter college or an occupation with a knowledge of how to budget his time.

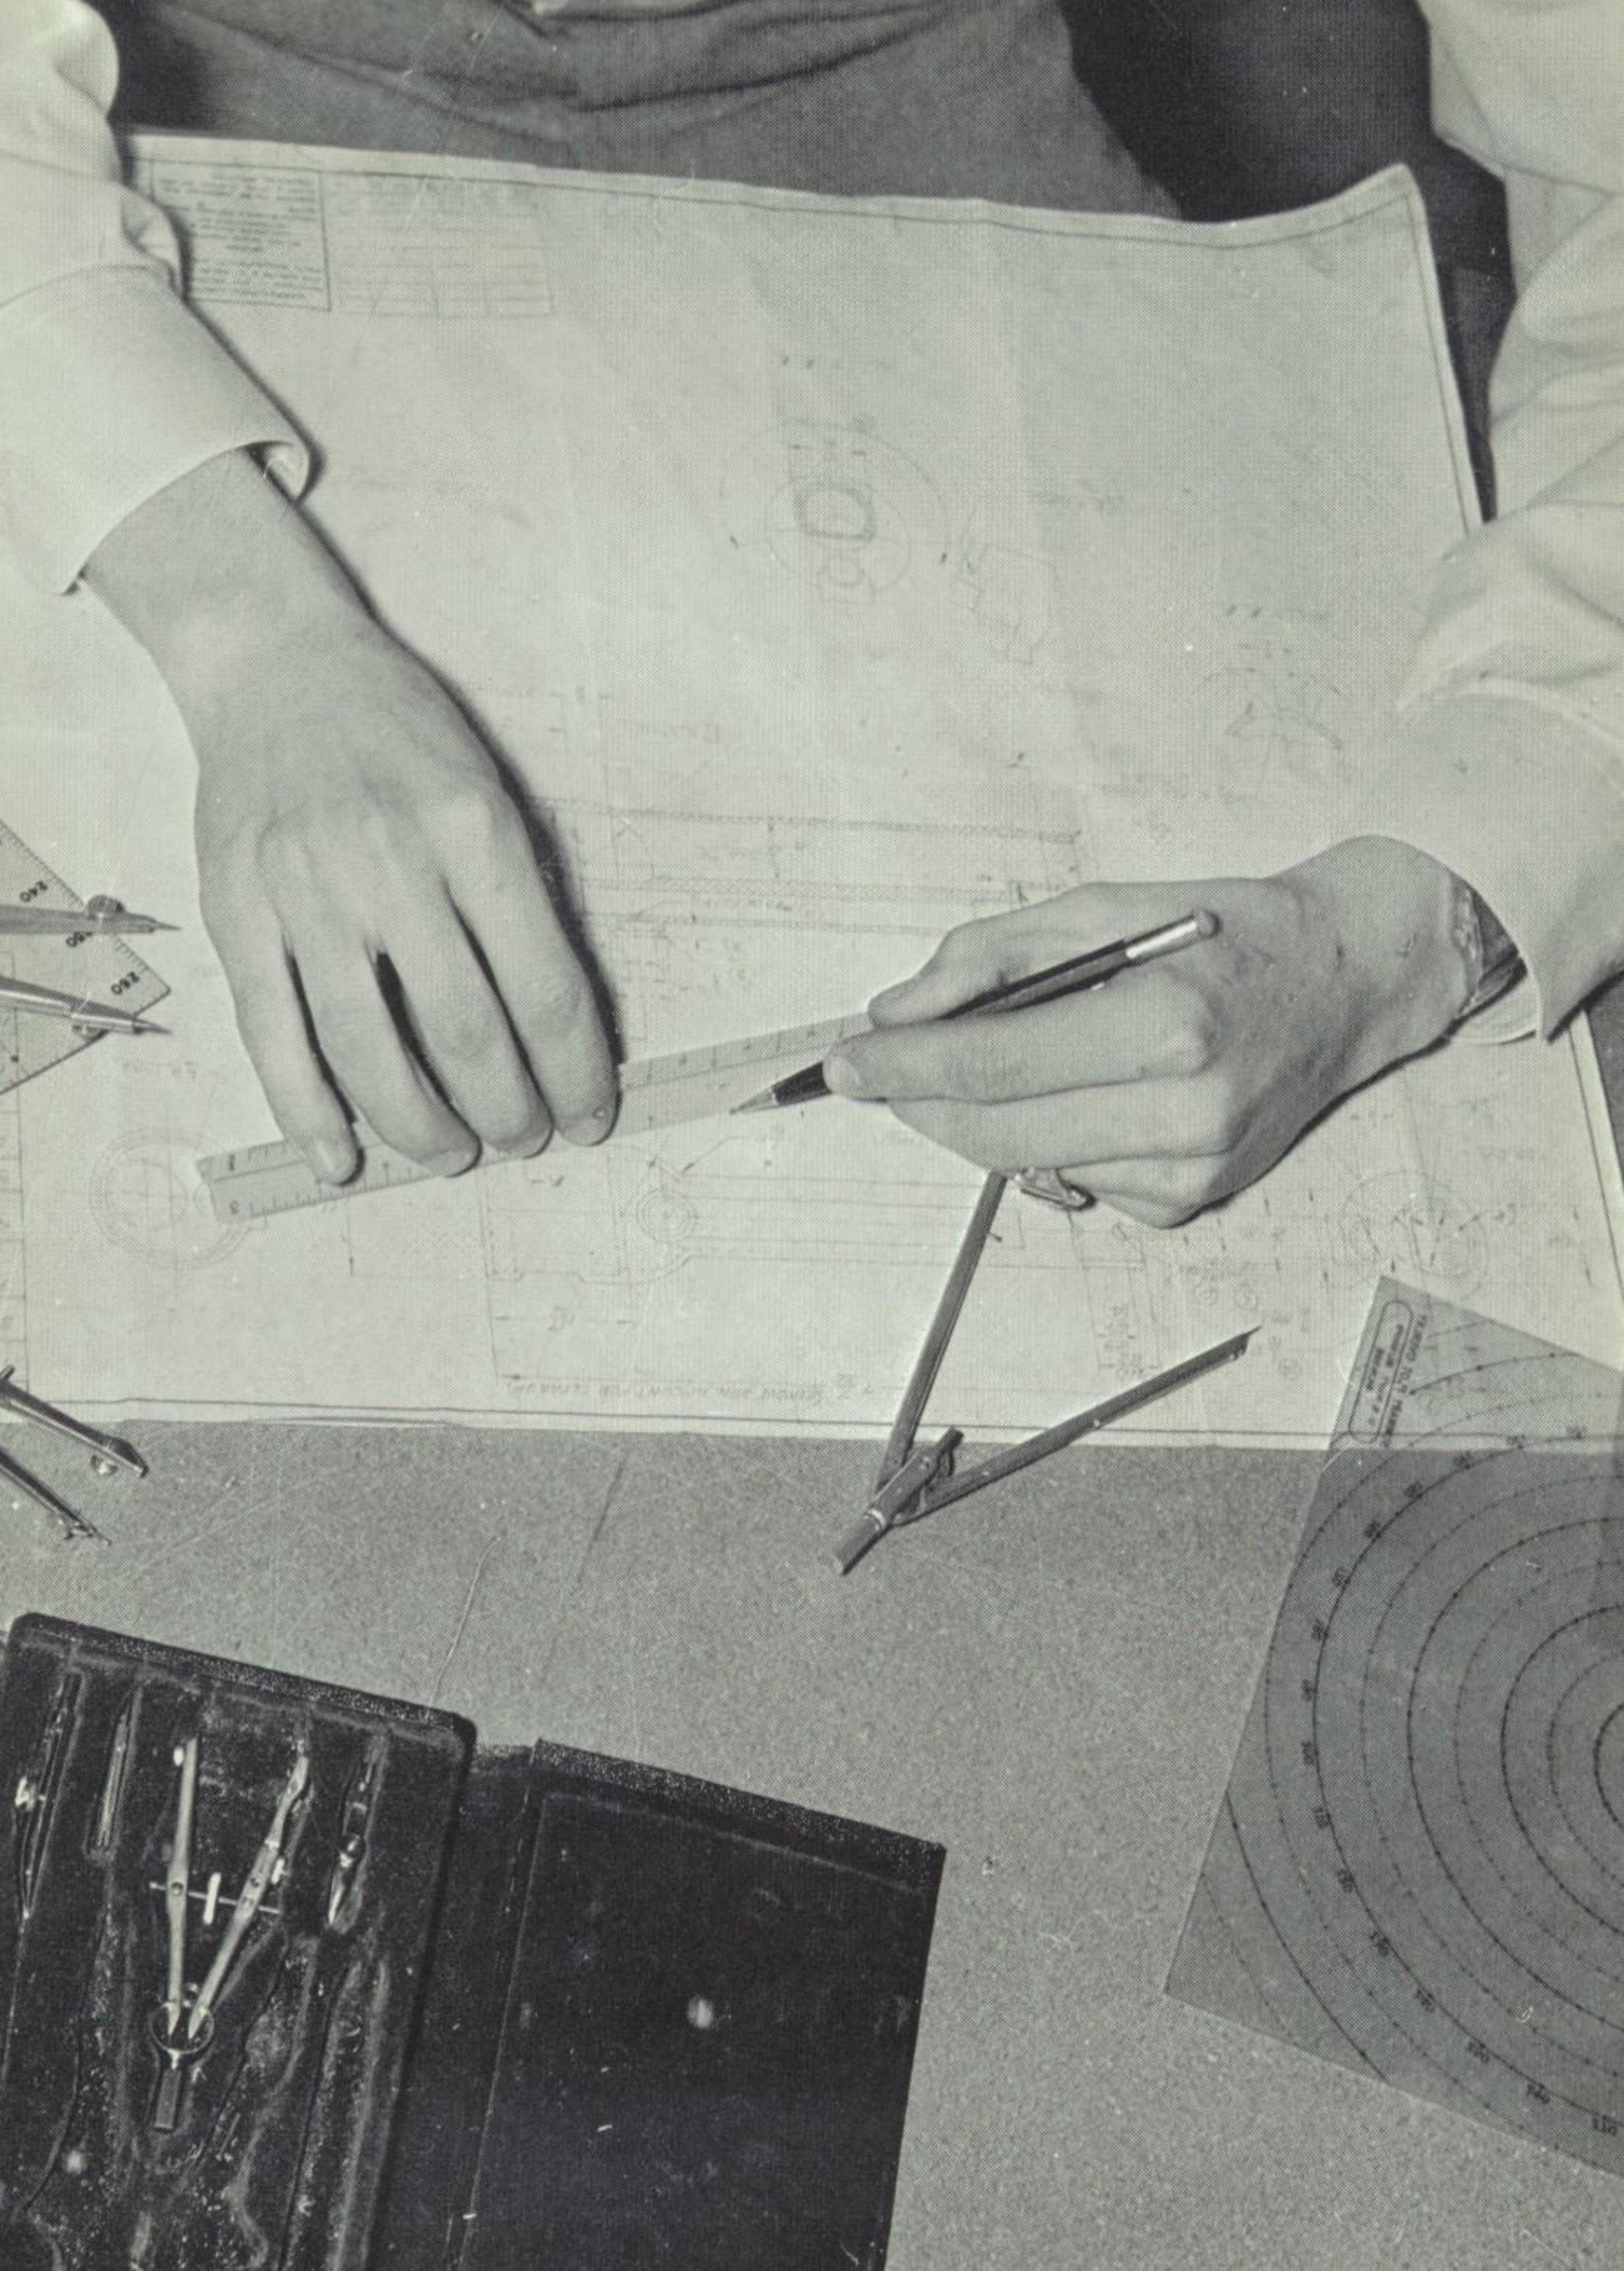
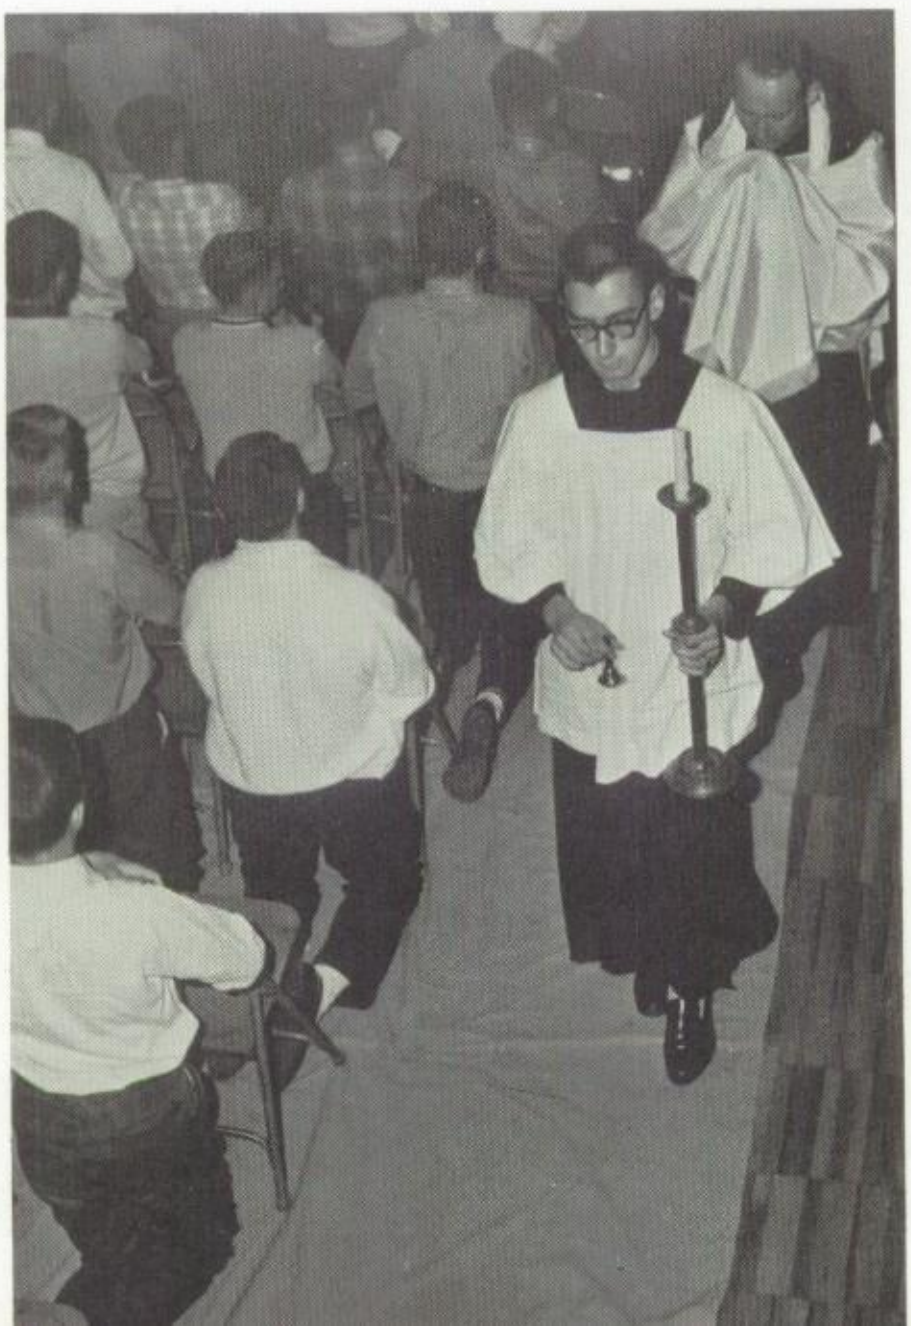
ACADEMICS

Learning is a serious business, but it need not be a solemn one. This is a tone of our classes — we like to believe — where gravity is blended with gaiety. Ideally, it's fun to learn, exciting to hear new ideas. We meet the world's poet and seers, prophets and apostles in our classes. They are as alive as we wish to make them.



SENIOR RELIGION STUDENTS Kay Archambeault, Barbara Mejer, Pat Miltenberger, and Mary Goeller make close inspection of Father Leeuw's chalice.

Religion Provokes Deeper

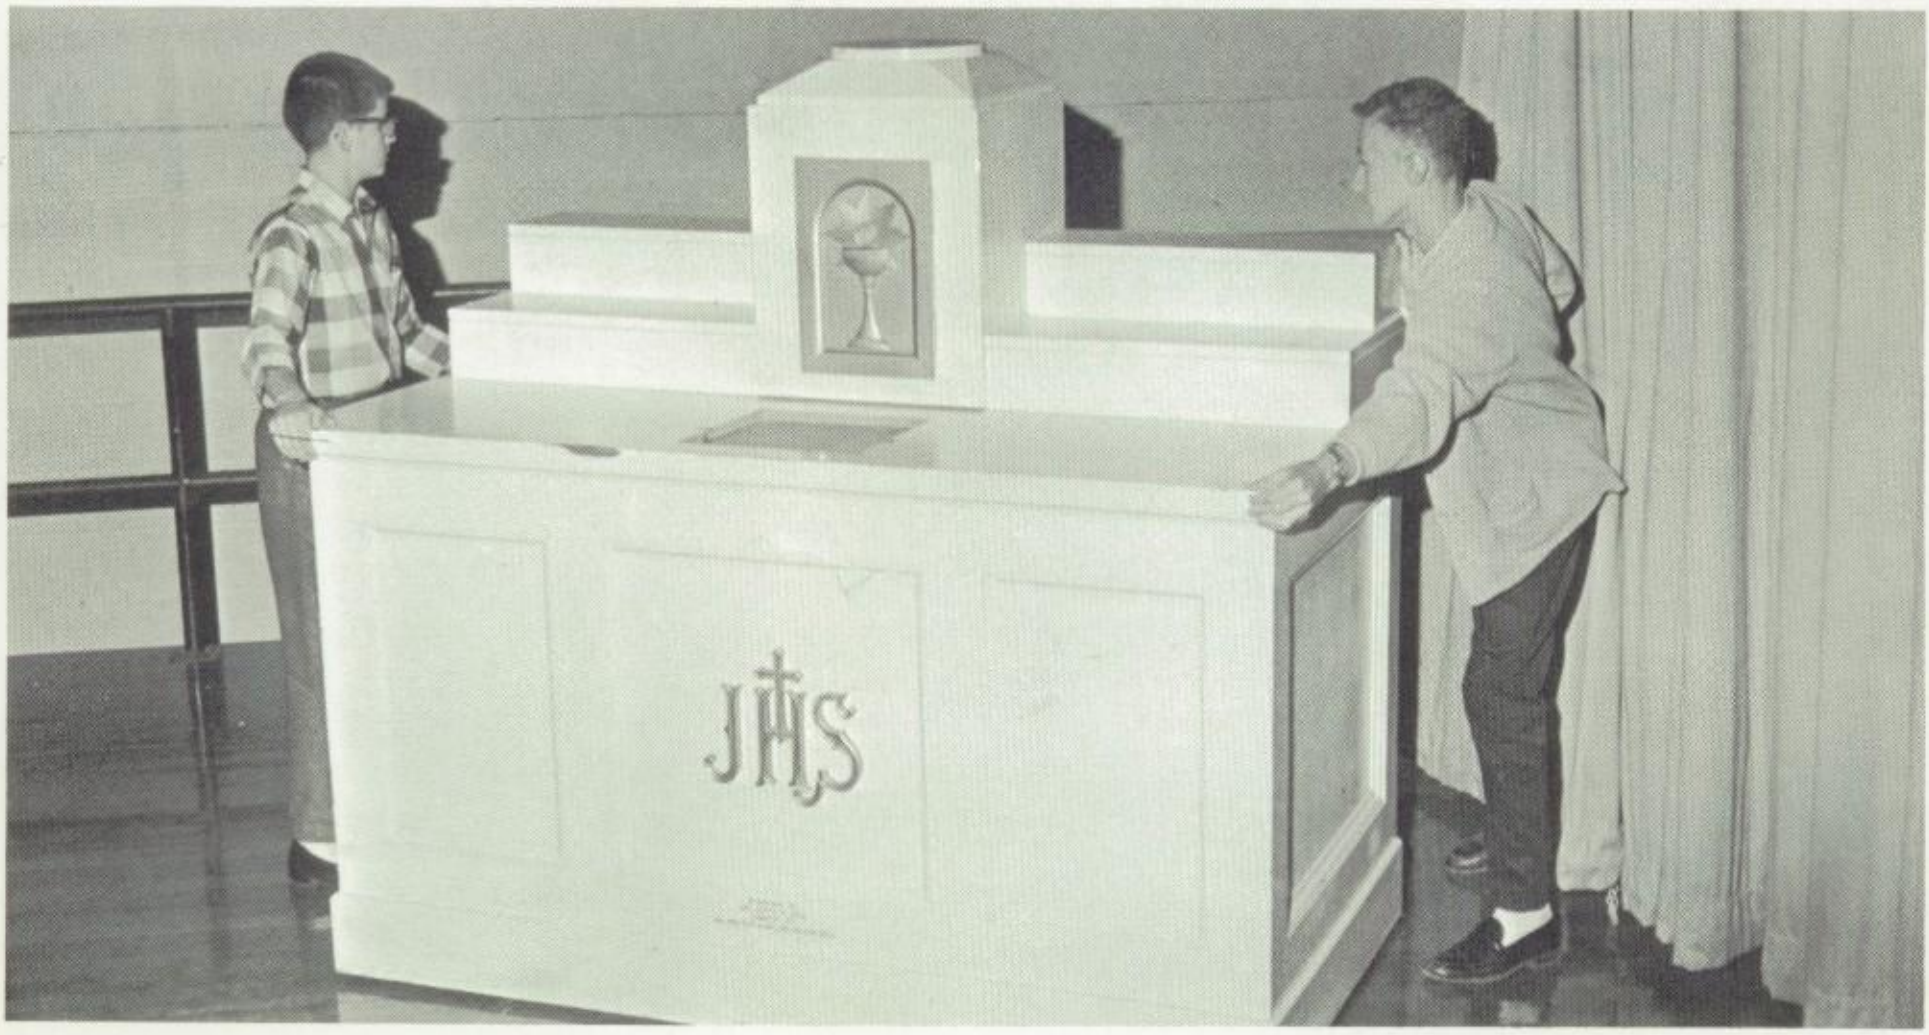


The purpose of Catholic education is the training of young men and women to become, under the inspiration of divine grace and the imparting of intellectual truth, true Christian ladies and gentlemen.

Through the religion classes, taught by Priests, Brothers and Sisters, moral truths and Christian dogmas are imparted. Spiritual direction and guidance is the heart of the guidance services offered through the daily religion classes and private consultations.

Each school day begins with the Morning Offering and a Hail Mary in homeroom. All classes throughout the day begin with a Hail Mary and an ejaculation, the Angelus at noon, and the school day ends with an Act of Contrition. The students are constantly reminded by prayer, word and example that the course of studies, the religious training, the rules of discipline, the social and athletic activities are all designed to develop the "whole man" so that he may fulfill the purpose of existence in this life and eternal life.

AFTER HOLY COMMUNION at the Junior-Senior retreat, Father Leeuw, led by alterboy Denis Springer, returns the Blessed Sacrament to the student chapel.



SETTING UP THE ALTAR for the Mass of the Holy Spirit which traditionally opens the school year are Joe Kelly and Doug Brucker.

DEFTLY BENDING A WIRE, Sister Kerwin Marie shows Kathy Miller how to make the crude under frame necessary in making papier mache models.

"The Fine Arts," to quote the Encyclopedia Britannica, "imply skills acquired through patient practice and directed at an aesthetical end." Now everyone knows that "aesthetical" has to do with appreciating "the beautiful." If all this be true, the St. Joseph's student has ample opportunity to develop his cultural tastes. There is a wide range of appealing cultural activities.

An Art Class with Sister Kevin Marie in charge offers girls the chance to develop talent in painting, sculpturing, and plastic arts.

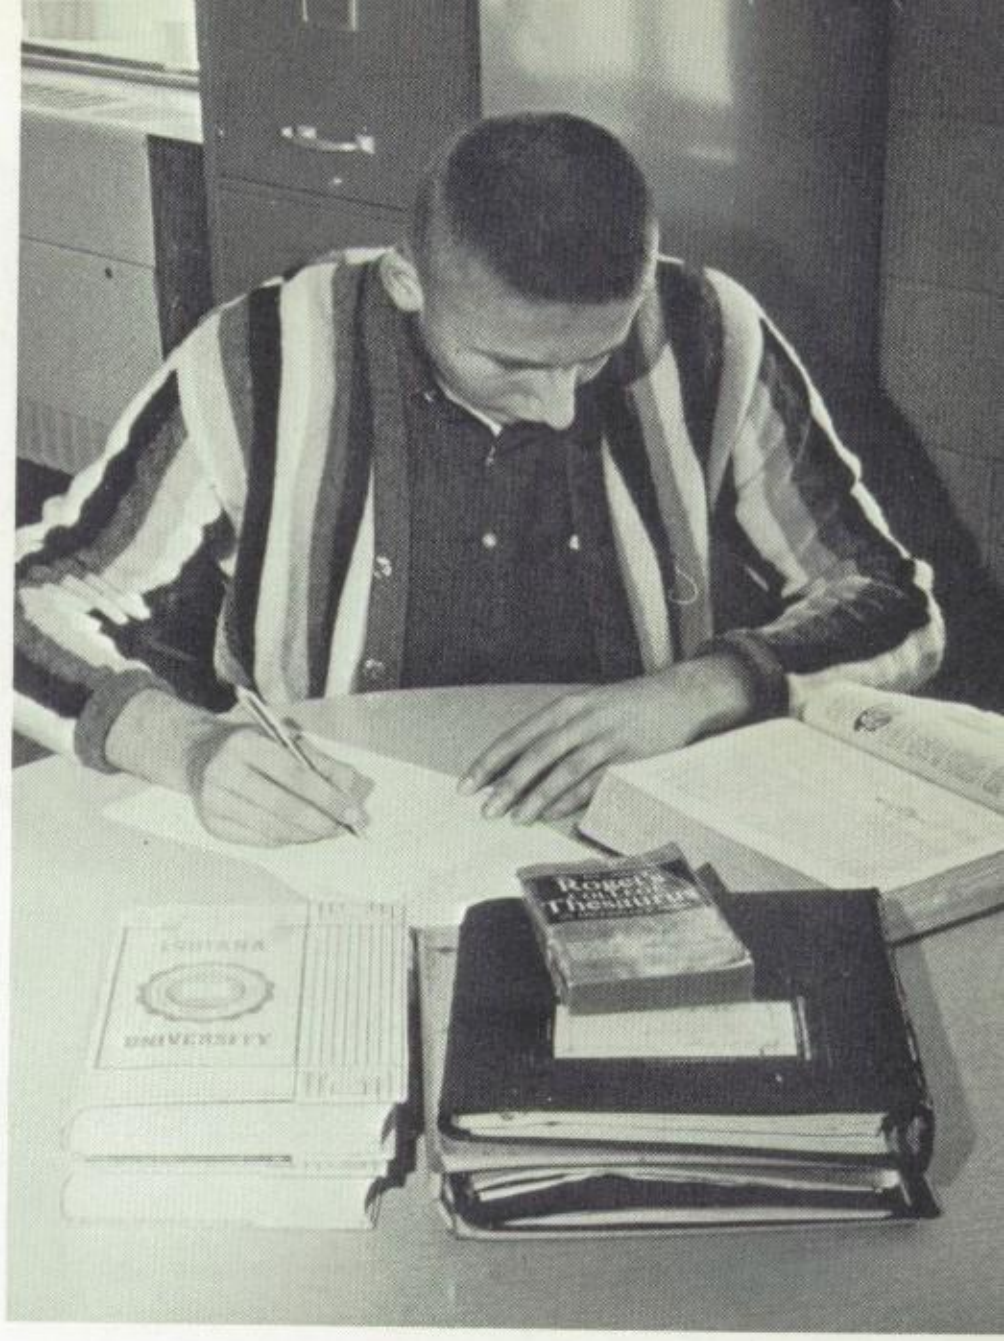
The boys aren't blessed with such a class, but they do have mechanical drawing.

St. Joseph's has an excellent symphonette under the baton of Mr. Reith.

A Creative Writing class is offered to senior boys. This class is taught by Brother Charles Blavat, who also is in charge of a newly formed debate club.

No major dramas are scheduled at St. Joseph's; however, many minor productions are presented in the various clubs and classes.

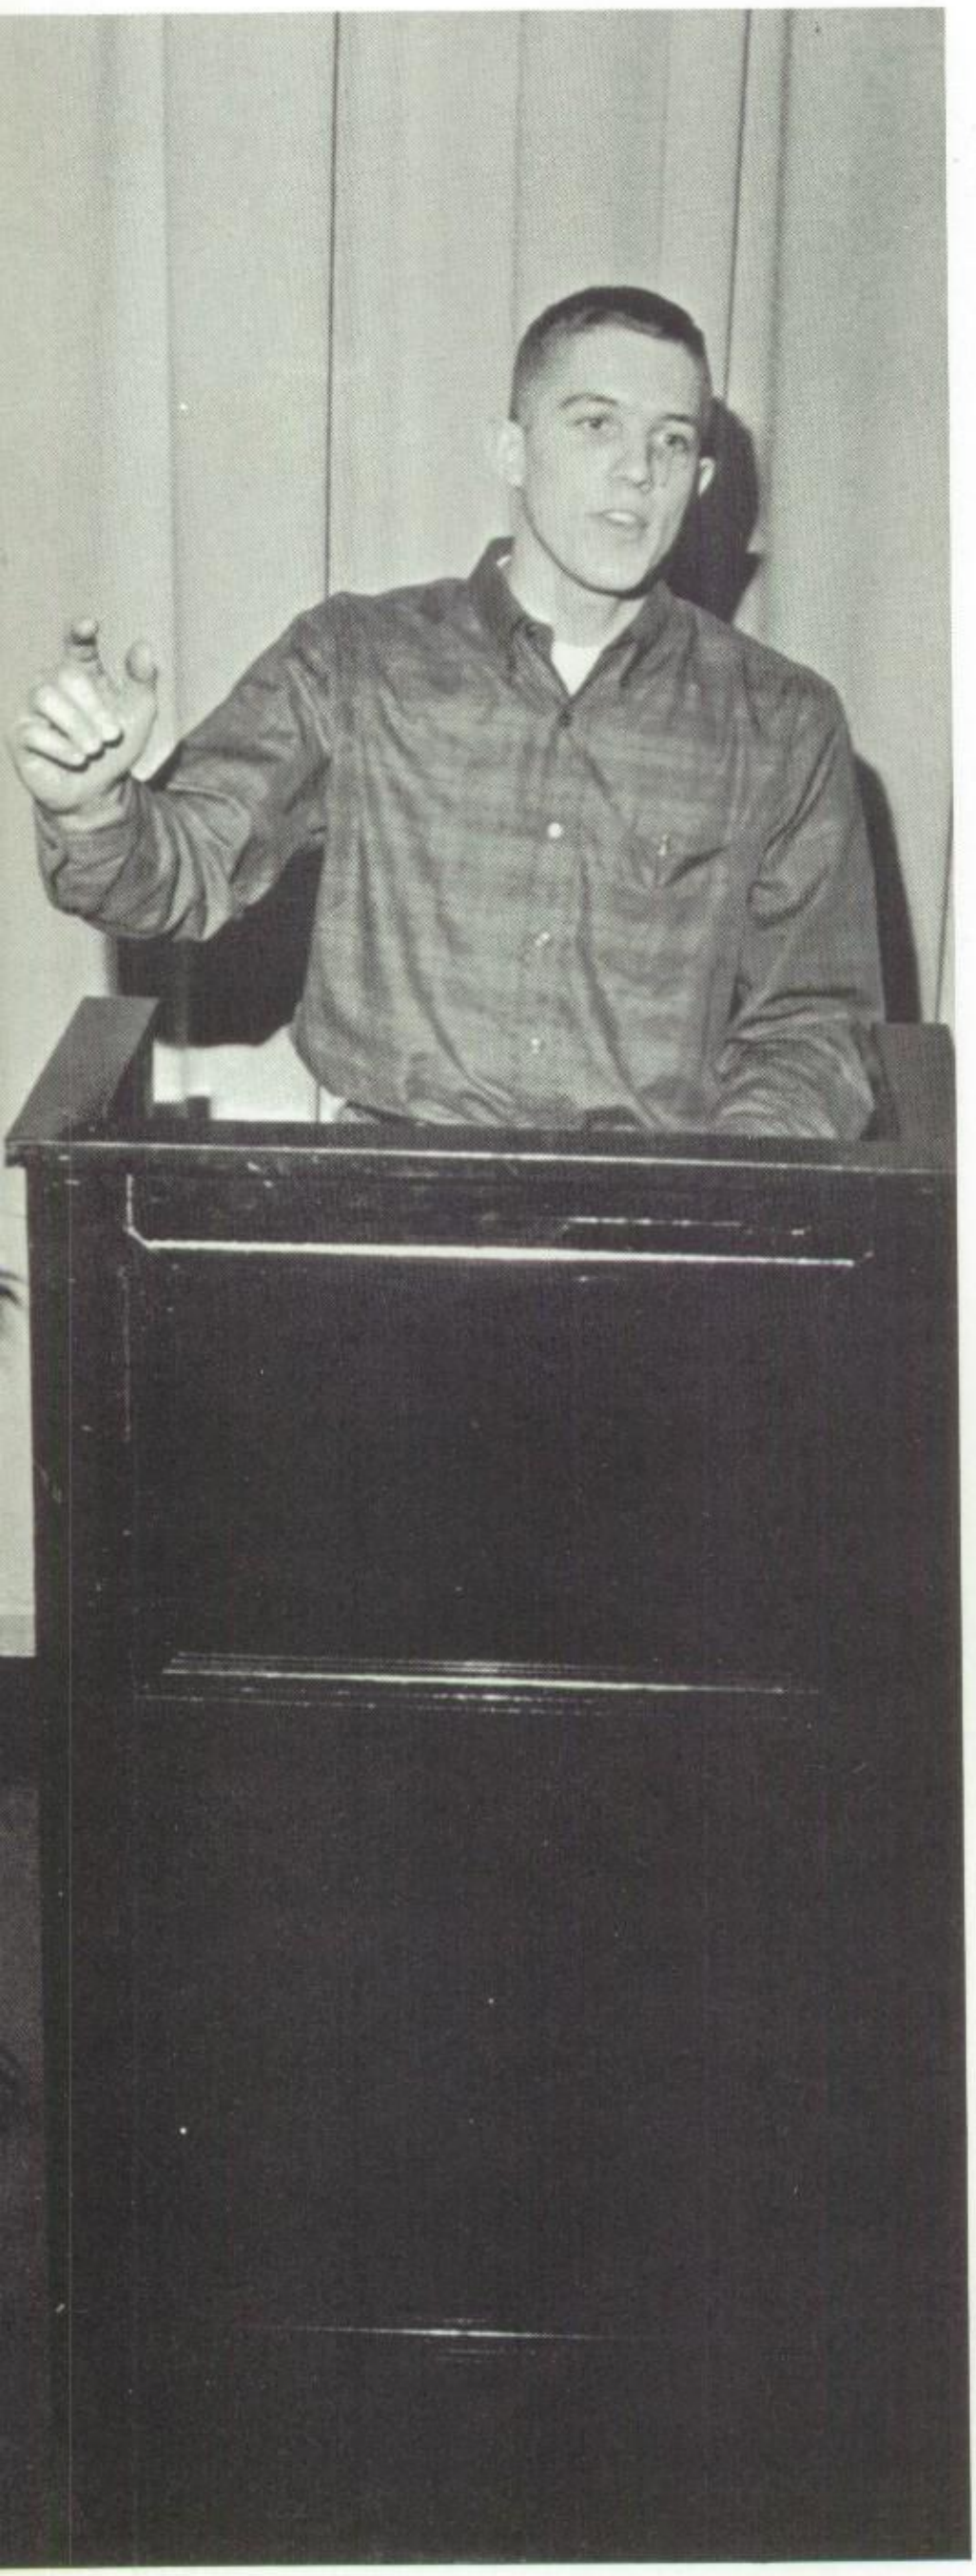
Incidental to liberal arts classes is much that is aesthetically appealing. Need we mention poetry, musical records, dance demonstrations, and public speaking!



THE PROPER REVISION of a composition for Creative Writing class is demonstrated here by John Koelndorfer. It takes lots of books and lots of checking.

Their Creative Talents

SELECTING ART MATERIALS in the storeroom, Kathy Quigley and Susan Stein prepare for a class session.



In our modern world, we must communicate with more people than ever before. Since proficiency in languages has become an absolute essential to success, St. Joseph's students are given the opportunity to master our own as well as several foreign languages.

Because it is most useful in everyday experiences, English receives greatest emphasis. Our English courses cover all of its phases: grammar, vocabulary, spelling, composition, and literature. In addition to these basics, seniors are offered a course in advanced writing and speech, where they can employ their knowledge with creative skill.

St. Joseph's also provides courses in several foreign languages. In Latin classes, students receive a thorough knowledge of Latin grammar and vocabulary before going on to translate the expeditions of Caesar. For those who accept the challenge, advanced courses in Cicero and Virgil are offered. Spanish and French provide a speaking knowledge through the use of the latest in audio-visual aids. In this way St. Joe students gain the mastery of a foreign tongue which is such an important advantage in college, in a career, and in daily life.

WORLD HISTORY is vitalized by Brother Wilbert with a film on Roman life.

One of the most necessary tools for intellectual achievement is a working knowledge of history. It is the aim of the History Department of Saint Joseph's High to convey this knowledge to the student through the most modern methods. Lectures, movies, slides, discussions and debates are included in the program to stimulate the student's interest in history. Once curiosity has been aroused, the student has the wide-range facilities of our school and city libraries to procure novels and documents which will increase his knowledge.

In today's space age, many crises are arising around the globe. It is our hope that we can solve these problems by means short of war. If we wish to accomplish this goal we must be well informed, not only in current events, but also in the events of the past. Man, for the most part, follows a basic pattern of thought. These patterns are revealed in the annals of history. Therefore, if we have a working knowledge of history we are able to predict, with a fair amount of accuracy, what will happen in a given situation today. So you can see that the History Department plays an extremely important role in the education of our future citizens.

Reasoning Emphasized

"THIS IS A MESSY BUSINESS" thinks Sandra Wade as she prepares to dissect a bullfrog in biology class.

Reflecting the accelerating importance of science, more students than ever before took science courses at Saint Joseph's this year. Many students enrolled in order to better understand the fundamentals of science and its applications in our modern age. Others pursued science courses to prepare themselves for further study and for careers in science.

As a result of this increased interest, several extra classes had to be scheduled. It was necessary to buy more teaching and laboratory equipment. The stocks of chemicals and biological supplies had to be replenished.

An increase in the number of science students also meant additional work for the instructors. More time was spent preparing classes, exhibits, lectures, demonstrations, and laboratory work. Teachers devoted a greater amount of their time to explaining the answers to after-class questions about redox reactions, vector diagrams, and bryophytes that came in an ever increasing deluge from puzzled students.

In this year of expansion, the science department presented an excellent, up-to-date program of combined classroom and laboratory work which helped the student develop basic skills and gain fundamental knowledge of science. More important, however, was the fact that the teachers placed greatest emphasis not on the facts and formulas, but on the reasoning that produced the results — on the scientific method.

Language for Science

The conquering of outer space has presented man with a challenge greater than any he has ever dealt with before. Yet never has man met a challenge with more ingenuity and resourcefulness. In dealing with the most immense distances and the most minute elements of time imaginable, he has found mathematics to be an indispensable tool. Therefore, to meet increasing demands in this field, St. Joseph's has a fine mathematics department as an integral part of its curriculum.

The incoming freshman is given a firm knowledge in the basic elements of algebra. Here he receives a background in the formation and solution of equations that will be the basis of the remainder of his dealings with math. As a sophomore the student receives invaluable practice, not only in mathematical principles of geometry, but also in the development of sound, logical train of thought. He is then prepared to delve into a second year of algebra. Then, finally, for seniors who wish to accept the challenge of higher mathematics, St. Joseph furnishes courses in trigonometry and analytics tailored for college-bound students. By maintaining such a complete program in math, St. Joseph's feels it is playing its part in aiding man to meet the challenge of outer space.

Basic Trades Learned Through Practical Arts

MRS. KUBISTA guides Grace Kryszczuk, as Toni Dylejko and Anita Kaczmarek prepare hems in new aprons.

For the student who plans to take a job immediately after the end of high school, St. Joseph's offers a highly varied practical arts program.

Boys who desire to become skilled or semi-skilled workers can enroll in the two-year mechanical drawing program, in which they will learn the intricacies of designing and blueprinting. Also available for these students is the study of electrical machinery: its principles, operation, and maintenance.

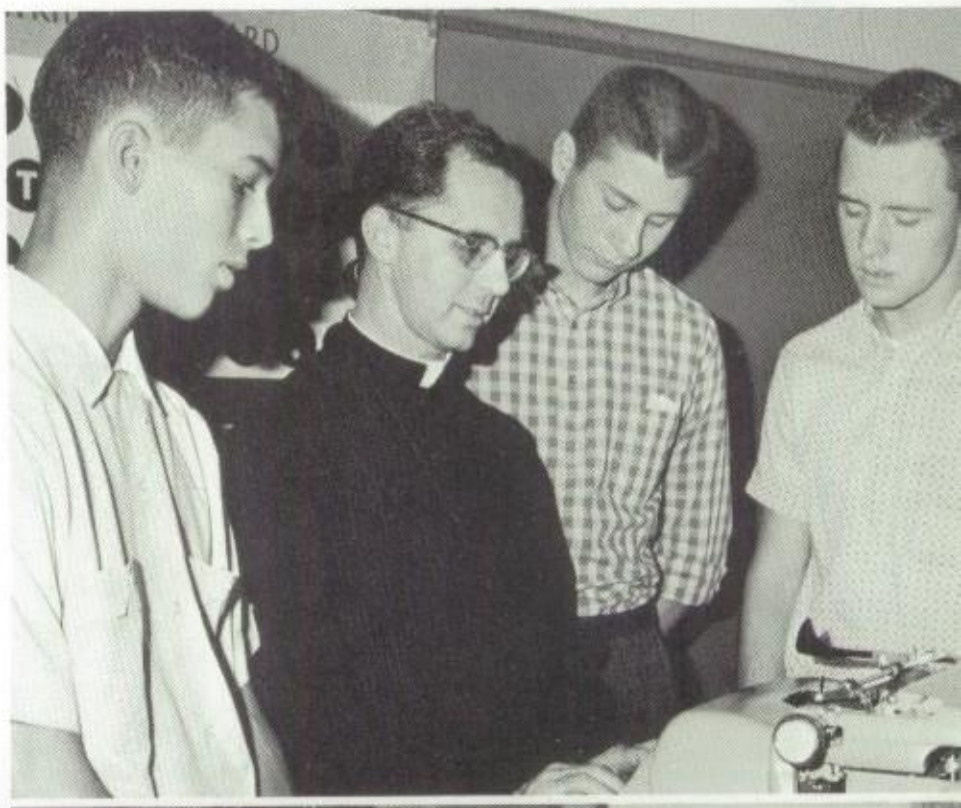
To prepare students for entrance into the business world, St. Joseph's offers a widely-diversified business course. For the boys, bookkeeping and business arithmetic teach them the proper methods of keeping correct and orderly records. Business law gives an insight into the legal aspects of the business world. To complete this program, typing and economics are also featured.

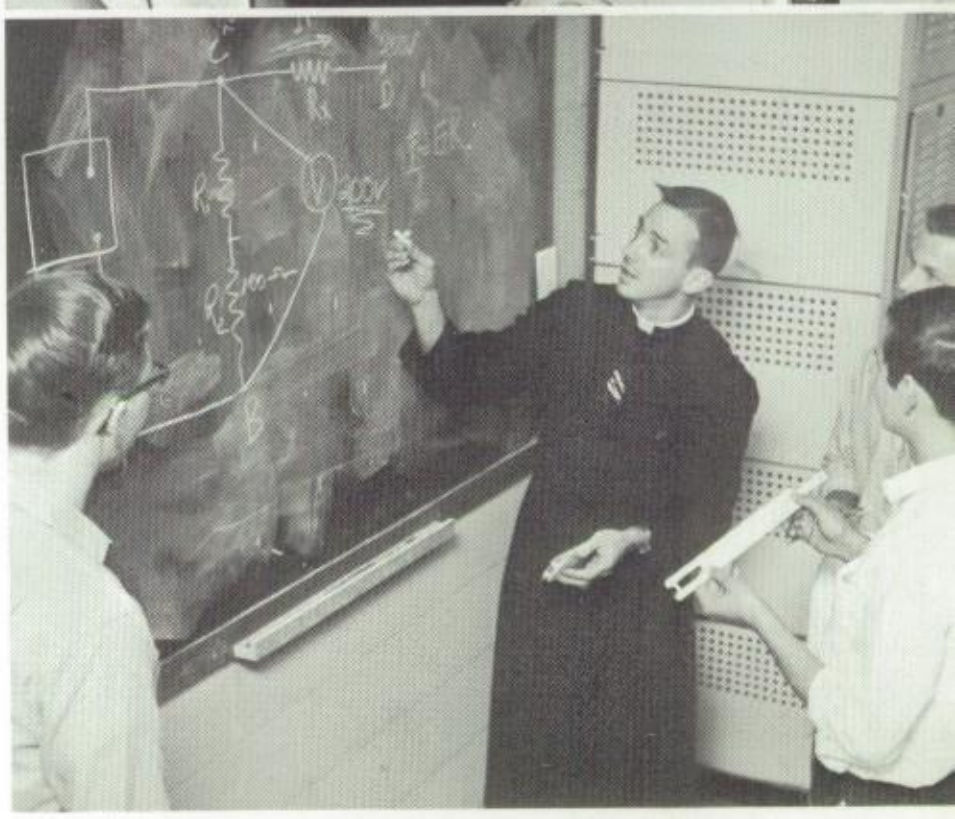
For the girls who have set for their goal a secretarial job, bookkeeping, shorthand, and typing are available. Here they will learn everything from the entrance of assets into a ledger to the proper method of taking correct dictation.

Finally, to accomodate the needs of America's future housewives, St. Joseph's offers excellent opportunities in sewing and home economics.

These courses are all geared to provide each student with enough background to enable him to find a suitable position in adult society.

BROTHER RICHARD SHEA, typing instructor, proudly demonstrates how to use one of the new Royals for Bob Wolz, John Toppel, and Tom Wozniak.



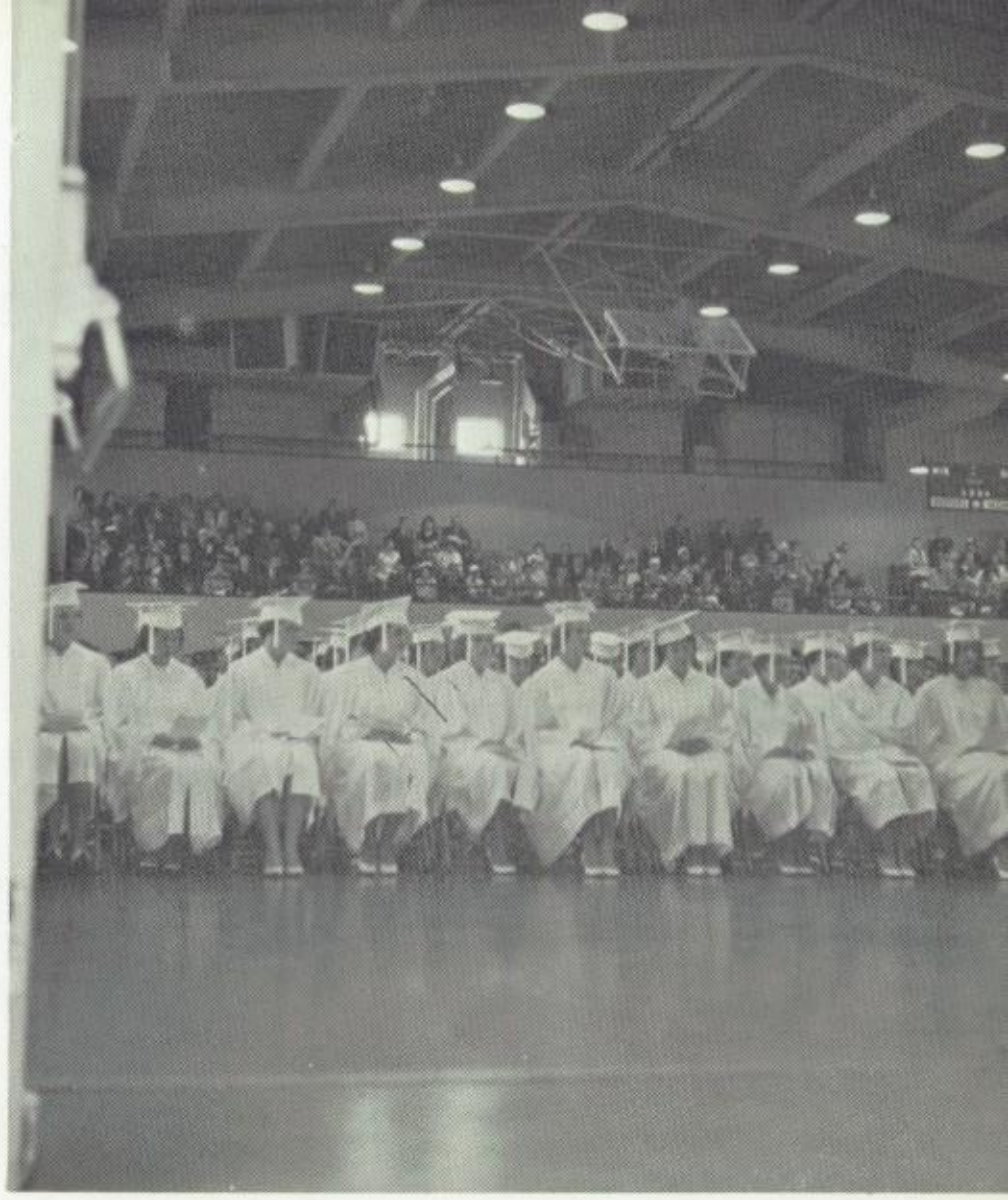


AFTER REVIEWING the principles of electrical resistance, Brother Leo poses a problem for Mike Sikorski, Steve Waldron, and William Heiden.

Every academic year at St. Joseph's ends with an Award Night. Students who have distinquished themselves in classroom studies are given recognition for their accomplishments. Besides the Scholastic Honor Certificates given for outstanding academic achievement, awards are given for exceptional performances in religion, languages, and industrial arts. An award for citizenship, as well as one for perfect classroom attendance, is also presented at this time.

Although these diverse achievements are awarded with certificates and medals, some financial gifts are granted. Gift certificates from a local bookstore are given to the students receiving the highest religion grades. Valuable college scholarships are presented by various organizations for outstanding academic success.

Awards Night, coming during the last week of school, is correlated with graduation ceremonies. Valedictorians, representing the boys' and girls' departments, are introduced, and speeches are delivered by the two salutatorians of the Senior Class. The ceremonies are concluded by a traditional farewell gesture to St. Joseph's by the graduating class. The senior class president presents the symbolic Tomahawk to the Junior Class president, and thus another St. Joseph's Awards Night is completed.



FOR ST. JOSEPH'S SENIOR GIRLS the open door symbolizes the finality of graduation after four years of anticipation.

ACTIVITIES

In addition to the regular academics — which alone would suffice to keep a student profitably busy — St. Joseph's offers a maze of extra-curriculars. The range is from debate to fine arts to secretarial practice. There's something for even the most discriminating chooser. What's more, in an effort to appeal to each avocation, the list of activities grows constantly longer.

TROMBONIST keeps eye on camera as he plays.

The year 1962-63 was a long, interesting one for St. Joseph's band, one full of musical activity. At the end of the summer, under the able direction of Mr. James Reith, regular marching practices began the preparation for the many football games and assemblies, climaxed at the central game with the presentation of a Civil War pre-game show, complete with a roaring canon.

With October came the chance to play for President Kennedy at a political rally in Indianapolis — at least half of the band members got to shake hands with the President! The band then marched in the Mishawaka United Nations Day parade, and ended the month with a concert for the annual Teacher's Institute.

November was highlighted with the Diocesan music contest, where several members won prizes. The musically successful Christmas concert took place on December 19. Many of the band members also placed first, second, or third in their respective musical categories in the district and state solo and ensemble contests held in February. Another "first" was scored in the exchange visit with Fort Wayne Central Catholic concert band. The band also participated in the Northern Indiana State Band Contest.

The year ended on a note of expectancy with the campaigns and election of new officers, and a flurry of activity in the presentation of the formal Spring Concert, the marching in the Armed Forces Day and Memorial Day parades, and the final concert at graduation.

Music Added to Art Club Curriculum

Introducing its members to the finer aspects of art was the general project of this year's Art Club. Sister M. Praxedes, the Club's Sponsor, has provided the future artists with a series of lectures and instructions in a study of the masterpieces. Realism and impressionism was studied. Both types of art were perused in a systematic approach, century by century. Field trips to the Art Museum in Chicago and to the exhibits at the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College have also contributed to a general knowledge of the masterpieces. Slides of the Louvre and other museums were also shown.

A new addition this year has been a study of music. Students, with Sister Praxedes supplying the recordings and directing the discussions, tried to discover the relationship music has to the other fine arts. Such questions as "what music and art have in common," "how they differ," "how a feeling like a composer inculcates into his music can be found in a painting," and "how music actually paints a mental picture as it runs its course" were explored.

The techniques of horizontal or the chord system, and the vertical or phase system were also studied.

AT AN ART CLUB SESSION Janet Varga, Joan Mucha, and Susan Stein sort through a pile of photos for ideas.

A shining example of the girls' department interest in modern language is the French Club. It is open to junior and senior girls who take French classes, and a high percentage of the girls participate in its activities. The club is ably sponsored by Sister M. Berenice, who teaches French.

Among the more enjoyable projects are plays and skits in which club members do the costuming and acting. Another activity the girls enjoy at meetings is the playing of word games entirely in French! Active interest in a particular field is truly exemplified by "La Cercle — Jeanne de Arc."

The old saying that Latin is a "dead language" has been decisively disproven by the girls' Latin Club. Freshmen and sophomores have the opportunity to bring it "back to life" under the leadership of their Latin teacher, Sister M. Rosalima. Meeting bi-weekly, the Latin students with the help of films and other visual aids, explore the world of Roman civilization. Comparing our modern world with that of Cicero and Caesar is very interesting and rewarding. A better understanding of a language through a varied program of enjoyment is the goal of the Latin Club this year.

Science Clubs Grow in

Sputnik's launching had many reverberations. It prodded science departments to meet the change of the times. A small but albiet not unimportant tremor was the effect on science clubs in schools. They, with college pressure on, became very popular.

St. Joseph's meets the challenge with two fine clubs. The one representing the girls' department is monitored by Miss Niswonger. The club tries to foster an interest in sciences generally. It does this with lectures and trips particularly. Visits to St. Mary's College and Notre Dame labs proved a source of profit.

Mr. Malone heads the boys' club. Meetings are held bi-weekly in the chemistry lab. A schedule of 20 movies on all phases of science will be shown. Special trips to Miles Pharmaceutical Labs at Elkhart, the Lobund Lab at Notre Dame were most enjoyable and informative. Projected trips include a visit to weather, space and electricity centers in Gary and Chicago.

Interspersed in all this activity is a constant procession of experiments carried out in the school labs.

Working on their own projects or those suggested by teachers, students spent their time after school investigating the sciences either at home or, more often, in a crowded chemistry lab. All this work led to the third annual St. Joseph's High School Science Fair, held on March 27 of last year.

Under the capable direction of Mr. David Malone, who is also moderator of the Boys' Science Club, the fair was held in the gym during the night of a Parents' Club meeting. As has become customary, during the evening parents were invited to tour the exhibits, asking questions and receiving explanations from the exhibitors.

All the projects were divided into four divisions: mathematics, physics, chemistry, and biology, the biology division being further divided into boys and girls sections. Each division had three prizes awarded on the basis of the decisions of volunteer judges from the University of Notre Dame.

Exhibitors covered subjects familiar to students, such as the Pythagorean theorem and linear equations. Other projects dealt with things heard about usually only in special articles in newspapers and magazines, such as deoxyribonucleic acid or DNA and airfoils and wind tunnels. Spectacular exhibits to be found that night included a Telsa coil and a Jacob's ladder. By participating in such exhibits St. Joseph's students provided a fine example of their insatiable zeal for knowledge.

OFFICERS OF THE SECRETARIAL CLUB — (SEATED): Angel Fitzgerald, President; (STANDING): Sheri Piani, Vice-President; Carol Kopec, Treasurer; Nila Donaldson, Secretary.

The Secretarial Club, with Mrs. Siminski as Moderator, has proven very popular. There are more than a hundred members. Although the club will eventually be expanded even further, at the moment it includes only seniors, those commercial students who have had (or are still taking these courses) bookkeeping, typing, and shorthand.

Meetings of the club are bi-weekly, and are usually held for a half hour after school in Room 104.

The purpose of the Secretarial Club is to prepare girl commercial students to meet some of the problems that might be encountered in a business job, problems that can't too readily be met in class.

The club hopes to meet its responsibility by providing demonstrations and experience in handling various business machines.

To further familiarize club members with business problems and methods, tours of various local commercial officers are planned.

A monthly magazine, The Modern Secretary, is subscribed to by most club members.

Future Doctors Aid in Hospitals

EXPLAINING THE ANATOMY of the human leg to Future Doctors Club member Bill Holls, is Dr. S. Bernard Vogner.

In today's highly competitive world, the student must make an early decision concerning his professional interest in life. Once this goal is set, he should investigate his choice. This is where the Future Doctors' Club enters into the picture.

It is the purpose of the club to show the prospective doctor some of the facets of medicine. Surgical movies delve into the anatomy of the human body, and the members, as volunteer workers in the Emergency Room of St. Joseph's Hospital, are exposed to some of the cases they will be confronted with in future life. Tours of hospitals and laboratories illustrate the intensive care given to each individual patient. The University of Notre Dame Laboratory is available to members if they wish to perform any experiment in their spare time.

At the bi-weekly meetings, many of South Bend's most prominent doctors lecture the club on their respective fields. Courses in first aid and anatomy are presented to the members, enabling them to act in an emergency. These are some of the means used by the Future Doctors' Club to help the student to determine if his choice of medicine is correct.

Future Nurses Consider Profession

FUTURE NURSES CLUB — Theresa Fister, secretary; Kathy Orban, president; Nancy Nemeth, treasurer; Anne Breiler, vice-president.

The St. Joseph chapter of the national organization, The Future Teachers of America Club, is under the direction of Sister M. Josile. The club holds bi-monthly meetings and members attend conferences on the state and local levels. Here guest speakers explain the opportunities, challenges, and responsibilities of a teaching career, and the requirements for obtaining a teacher's license.

Also the Future Teachers offer their assistance during eighth grade registrations and other functions concerning teaching or working with school children.

By participating in these activities the club fulfills its purpose of giving the teachers of tomorrow an insight into their chosen profession.

Nursing has developed from roots hidden deep in the past; it has played a vital part in every period; it will always present a definite challenge, built upon ages of patience, kindness and care for other humans.

At St. Joseph's, the Future Nurses, under the guidance of Mrs. Kubista, acquired greater knowledge of the nursing career through various activities. Field trips to Holy Cross Central School of Nursing, the Medical Foundation, Logan School, and Westville provided firsthand experience, as did participation in the Candy Stripers Program. Also highlighting the year were speakers from diverse fields of medicine — dieticians. physicians, and physical therapists.

FUTURE NURSE MEMBERS discuss with their sponsor, Mrs. Kubista, the new club pin to select for the coming year.

FUTURE TEACHERS OFFICERS — Mary Coomes, president; Katy Cooney, treasurer; Kathy Brenlin, vice-president; and Katy Ladewski, secretary.

SOME POINTS about college entrance exams are discussed by Sister Josile, Margaret Jackson, and Mary Pat Reuwer.

IN A MARIAN CLUB DRAMA Dianne Racht and "Mother" Marcia Pierce look on as Christine Philion receives a diploma from the "bishop," Elise Camp.

One of the largest clubs on the St. Joseph's extra-curricular scene is the Marian Club. Under the capable supervision of Sister Francis Loyola, this organization attempts to acquaint its members with the religious vocation.

At the regular meetings of the club the members discussed topics whose central theme was selected at the beginning of the year. This year the theme was the Christian vocation.

The first project of the year was the presentation of the comedy "My Life with Mother Superior," adapted from McCall's Magazine by Susan Biek. On November 1 the play was performed for the junior professed sisters from St. Mary's House of Studies and was followed by an informal gathering of the sisters and club members. First hand information on convent life was offered to those interested.

Other projects included guest speakers on foreign missions and various religious communities as well as trips to religious houses and hospitals. The purpose of such projects was to create an awareness of the various fields embraced by the Church in "restoring all things in Christ."

Through these activities the members were aided in their decision as to whether they should devote the rest of their lives in the direct service of God.

Mission Club Fosters Charity

The St. Joseph's Mission Club has enthusiastically directed its efforts toward the benefit of the Holy Cross Foreign Missions. Club members have been responsible for sending substantial amounts of financial as well as other types of aid to the needy people of Africa and Pakistan.

This year the boys' Mission Club separated into upper and lower divisions. The senior-junior group, under the direction of Brother Wilbert, continued fund raising efforts by weekly homeroom collections and the Mission Dance, the latter a substitute for the traditional Pops concert. Under the guidance of Brother Carroll the freshmen and sophomores also contributed to the mission funds. Eager to be more closely connected with the missions, they began the study of individual missionary countries, listened to inspiring lectures from missionaries, and maintained direct correspondence with mission students in Africa.

Besides the regular financial aid, religious articles and cancelled stamps were collected. These charitable labors, including innumerable prayers, aid the less fortunate countries and result in a fine reputation for our Mission Clubs.

CAREFULLY CHECKING names and addresses, senate representatives Ed Jankowski and Mike Donaldson assist in the production of the student directory.

The combined efforts of the Student Senate this past year have helped to develop a greater understanding and cooperation between the students and faculty at St. Joseph's High School.

Under the direction of Moderators Brother Charles and Sister Francis Loyola, the senators again were in charge of the annual Christmas drive. In true Christmas spirit, the canned goods collected in the campaign were used to provide some of the happiness of the season for the less fortunate.

Another project sponsored by the Student Senate was the printing and sale of student directories. These are always an invaluable aid in finding the "who and where" of St. Joe students.

A new task taken up this year was the organization of a Booster Club to lessen the expense of bus trips to the various St. Joe sporting events. To raise funds for the success of the club, the girls sold programs at the home basketball games.

In addition, the Senate held a dance and a sports assembly for one of the football games.

Through these many and varied activities, the Student Senate of St. Joseph's High School has helped to improve the school.

MR. RUSSELL ROTHERMEL, principal of John Adams High School, delivers the address at the boys' National Honor Society induction ceremony.

CONTINUING THE TRADITIONAL CEREMONY at the Society's induction, Hugh O'Malley lights the white candle symbolizing character.

The National Honor Society has as its members students who have demonstrated outstanding qualities of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. However, it is only after they have been inducted into the Society that these students have the greatest opportunities to develop these qualities. For the various activities of the National Honor Society put the qualifications of its members to use to both lead and serve the school.

Both the Our Lady of Victory Chapter in the Girls' Department and the Josephite Chapter in the Boys' Department sponsored dances this year, the girls presenting the "Mad Hatter" and the boys putting on the "Scarecrow Shuffle."

In order to inform the girls of business opportunities, their chapter held a Careers Night. The girls also helped the school by monitoring the cafeteria and study halls and by organizing a tutoring service.

In the Boys' Department the tutoring service has been a project for the past three years. This year more students than ever profited from the dedicated efforts of N.H.S. members. In addition, the boys handled the concessions at basketball games and informal dances, and from their earnings presented a scholarship to St. Joseph's to a deserving student.

"The Year of Challenge" Met

HI-WAY EDITOR-IN-CHIEF Rich Honold discusses plans with Bro. Anton C.S.C., Moderator.

To provide a complete history of the year at St. Joseph's, to produce a reliable reference book, and to make an attractive memory book were the tasks facing the members of the staff of the Hi-Way. To help them to fulfill these responsibilities, Editor Richard Honold, Denis Springer, and Photographer Gregg Kowal attended Indiana University Journalism Institute last summer. Rich proved his worthiness to be editor when he received an award for outstanding work. At Indiana the three gained new ideas on layouts, photography, copywriting, and editing which could be passed on to the staff. .

Publications Moderator Brother Anton supervised the work of the staff as it struggled through picture cropping, copy editing, and layout problems. One of the greatest hurdles to be leaped was the meeting of deadlines, which always seem to sneak up on staff members. However, deep in the confines of the "dugout" behind the Little Theater difficulties were ironed out to the best of ability. Trying to retain A-1 rating taught Hi-Way staffers a sense of responsibility and teamwork as well as providing a great deal of fun.

The Hi-lite, published by the girls department of St. Joseph's, is a popular newssheet that appears monthly. Its articles are well-written and often provocative and its layouts conform to the best journalistic standards.

A member of the National Catholic Press Association, the Hi-lite consistently receives a first-class rating for its efforts.

It is the intention of the Hi-lite to balance the content of its articles so that no school activity is either slighted or over-represented.

Everyday during the sixth period and often after school — expecially when deadlines are due — the staff will be found slaving away in that small room behind the arts lab.

The 1962-63 Hi-lite has as its Moderator Miss Louise Sutton. Carol Kopec and Carolyn Culp serve as editors. Ken Klimek is sports editor.

Two other publication efforts of the girls' department represent St. Joseph's, the Chieftain and Tribune reporting. Miss Sutton is also moderator of both. The Chieftain, a weekly mimeographed sheet, with its breezy, conversational reporting and its rare cartoons, is a great favorite. Kathy Tubbs and Tony Sabo are responsible for the fine articles that occasionally appear in the South Bend Tribune.

First-Year Debators Show Potential

DEBATER Tom Mollison drives home a point for the affirmative.

"What should be the foreign trade policy of the United States?" This is the question confronting the membership of the Debate Club.

Formed this fall under the guidance of Brother Charles, the Debate Club immediately drew a large membership from among the boys. William Holls was elected president, and he began the planning and execution of an intensive program concerning the styles of debate. It is the hope of Brother Charles that the club will be able to make up in hard work what it lacks in experience.

The training program included practice in public speaking, a thorough course on the American trade policy, and several demonstration debates. Members of the Notre Dame Debate Club furnished assistance by advising the moderator and officers in the training of a debate team.

After many practice debates a four-man team will be chosen. This team will represent the school in a debate tournament with teams from the other city schools. The preliminary debates will be broadcast on radio and the finals on television.

Since the majority of the club's members are underclassmen, the experience and knowledge they gain should insure fine future teams for St. Joseph's.

"A NIGHT IN CAMELOT,"

PRECISE MEASUREMENTS for Mardi Gras decorations are made by Barb Turnock, Valerie Keresztes, Kathy Schuler.

USING THEIR ARTISTIC SKILLS, seniors Norma Stephenson, Janet Varga, Jim Kusz, and Joe Bogucki prepare decorations for Camelot.

The interior of a medieval castle provided the motif for "A Night in Camelot," the 1963 Mardi Gras dance. Couples entered through a castle portal, attended by pages and servants who acted as escorts into the grand castle ballroom. This ballroom was richly draped in red and gold with innumerable multicolored escutcheons on white walls. The focus of attention was the stage which had been transformed into a medieval throne room, replete with more flags and shields. Two intricately decorated balconies graced the walls above. Royal guards and pages protected the actual thrones which were covered with red velvet.

A lush forest separated the ballroom from the quaint Ole English Inn located in the cafeteria, where more pages served punch and cookies.

Music was provided by the Lettermen. All aspects of the Camelot theme were ingeniously worked out by the Co-chairmen, Janet Varga, Katie Cooney, and Mike Walsh.

Senior Sponsors, Brother Donald Burkhard and Sister M. Frances Loyola, and all the students who worked on the dance are to be congratulated. Everyone who attended the '63 Mardi Gras agreed that it was one of the very nicest social functions ever put on at St. Joseph's.

THE LAST OF THE CEILING STREAMERS are tied by Tom Lahey, Norma Swiatowy, Nancy Grannan, and Mike Donaldson.

THE BIG RUSH IS ON — Brother Stephen and freshman pages check coats.

"A NIGHT IN CAMELOT" is ruled by King Bob Hanyzewski and Queen Kathy Miller. The crowning is being performed by Mike Walsh, General Chairman of the dance.

A huge pastel oyster shell, highlited with changing lights, formed the throne of Queen Mary Lynne Yancey and King Denis Springer on May 4 at the "Sea of Dreams," the Junior Prom. The effect of a lighted sea was carried out along the walls, with nets, marine life, and an old wrecked ship. Juniors entered the world of the sea through a beautiful rock cave having a tiny stream ending in a pool at the entrance. The statue of Mary, "Star of the Sea," was placed upon a starfish in her rock shrine to the left of the stage and seaweed rippled gently overhead. Going to the cafe, Juniors encountered more seaweed and a mermaid; then entered "Neptune's Castle" where sailors served punch under the watchful eyes of a giant octopus. Music for the prom was by The Lettermen.

On May 12, the Seniors were transferred to a beautiful hanging gardens as they danced to the music of Don Gray at the Senior Ball, "Dawn of a Dream." White columns draped with purple formed the backdrop for the crowning of Judy Barkowski, Queen, and Tom Szajko, King. The entrance was a miniature garden, accented in gold, and filled with bird cages. It led to the main garden in which the walls were decked with nets of flowers. The upper balcony was uniquely transformed into a sidewalk cafe, surrounded by a dark hedge, and completed with candlelit tables where refreshments were served.

Informal Dances Mark Active Social

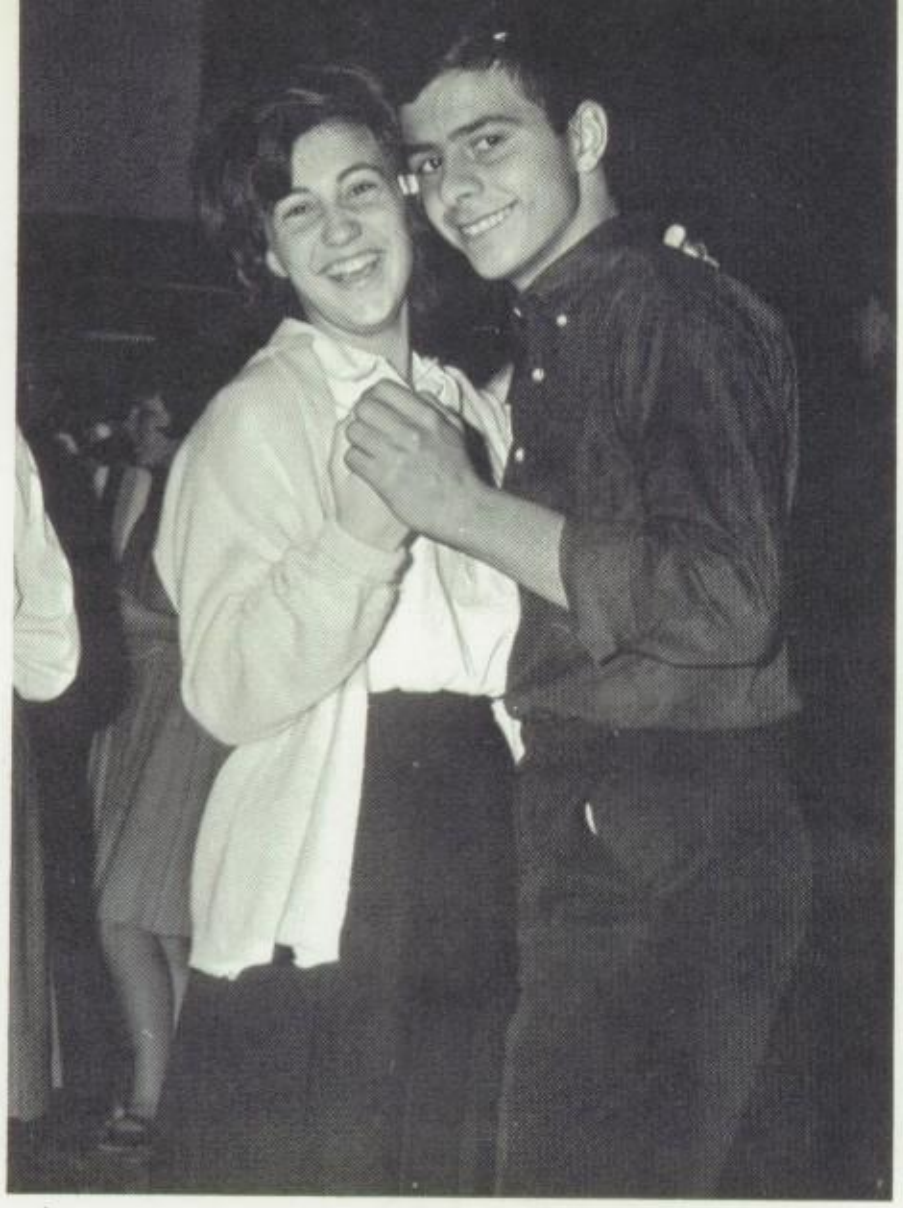
THE BOBBING ANTLERS on Mike Pianowski's "mad hat" make Laura Nagler grin.

St. Joseph's students found an outlet for their bottled-up energies again this year at the numerous class and school sponsored soc hops. The informal dances served to stimulate class unity and new friendships.

The seniors, as it should be, sponsored the first social event of the year. At this soc hop many new friends were made. The rest of the classes and organizations, following the senior lead, sponsored one dance after another. The Girls' National Honor Society sponsored the second annual "Mad Hatter" dance. Next to get into the act were the juniors with their "Football Farewell." And not to be outdone, the Boys' National Honor Society staged a dance during Thanksgiving vacation dubbed "Scarecrow Shuffle."

Also dotting the social calendar were many intra-class get-togethers. The freshmen arranged their annual roller skating party, while the sophomores put on a soc hop open only to members of their own class. The seniors held their yearly class coke parties and "smokers." All these events helped to stimulate class spirit.

The friends made and the fun had at these social events will always remain a vivid memory.



IT IS QUITE EVIDENT that Pat Pilsitz and Joe Serge are enjoying the dance.

SPORTS

Sports at St. Joe have a sane and proper place in the scheme of things. We like to win and try desperately to do so, but we aren't fanatics and we don't sacrifice principles to achieve victory. "First things first" is our motto, yet we don't forget "second things" either. We are proud of our teams and our outlook.

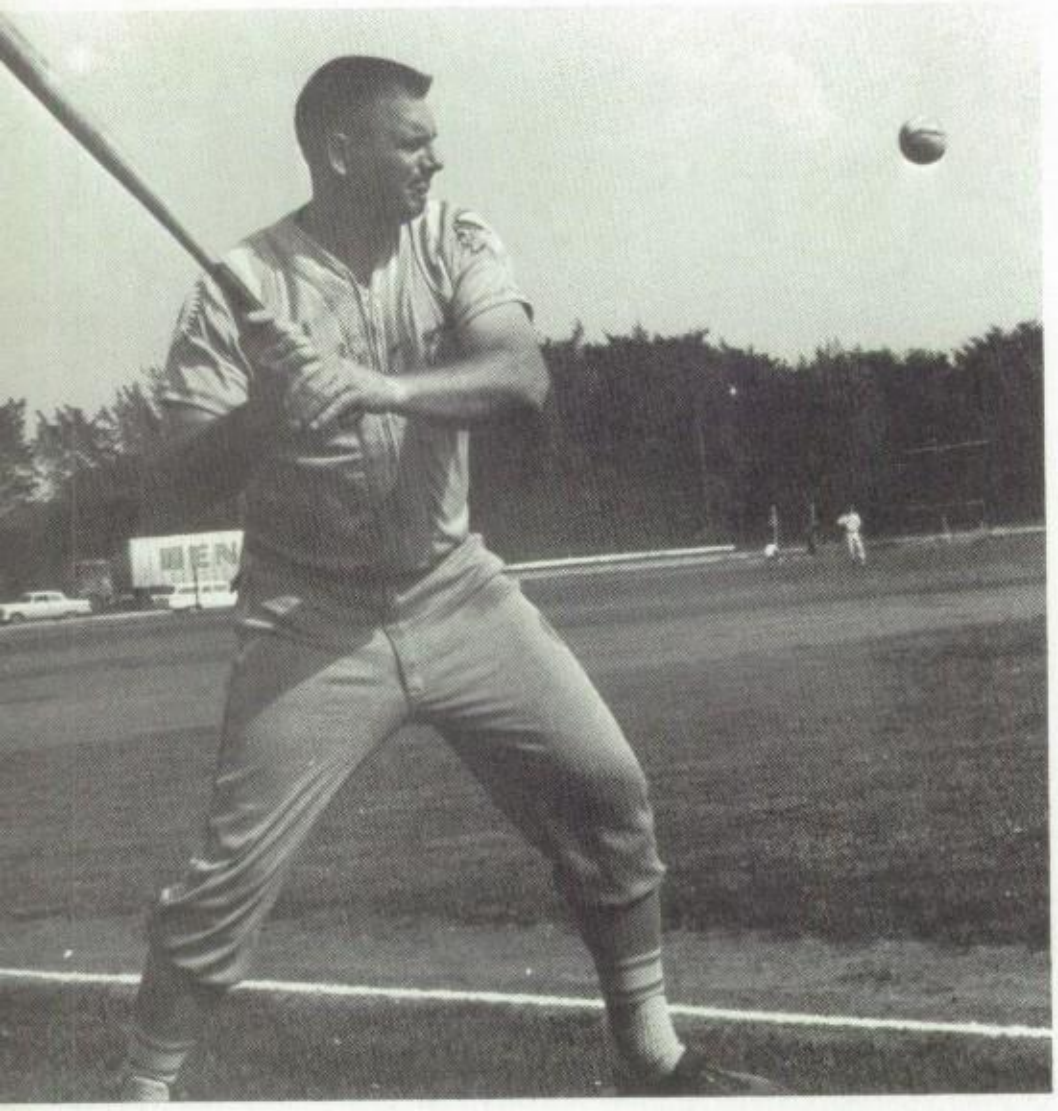
Hurlers Lead Indians to Winning

COACH KNUTSON bangs out a few hits in fielding drill.



With a fine crop of young pitchers and a solid corps of seasoned lettermen, Coach Eugene Knutson had every reason to look forward to the 1962 baseball season with an optimistic viewpoint.

The season's opener justified this view as St. Joe's forces blanked city-rival Washington 5—0. The team continued its winning ways with successive victories over Elkhart 6—5 and Adams 13—7, until they were sidetracked by a scrappy Niles squad 13—7. The revenge-seeking Indians then put on their hitting shoes and proceeded to outslug Riley 8—7. This began a second three-game winning streak of the season that reached its crest with back-to-back drubbings of Culver and Penn. The St. Joe express was then derailed by two successive losses within the same week to highly-touted Central — both by a narrow 3—2 margin. However, this didn't stop the high-spirited Indians as they rolled to a third three-game victory skein by whipping Adams, Penn and Laporte before succumbing to Mishawaka (5—2). Warming up for the approaching city tournament, the defending city champs then dumped North Liberty and Washington Clay by wide margins.

Entering the tournament with a fine 11—4 record, the Indians drew Washington, a team they had beaten once already during the season, as their first opponent. The Panthers ended St. Joe's title hopes in a slim 2—1 decision, closing out a fine, yet somewhat disappointing, season for St. Joe.

St. Joseph's first golf entry in recent years was recorded in the spring of 1962. A four-man squad composed of two past City Junior champions, senior Tim Hartzer and freshman Tony Baldini; a junior and past City Junior runner-up, John Bognar; and senior George Lysak, represented St. Joseph's in the sectionals.

In the tournament played at the Four Lakes Country Club, the Indian entry finished fourth with Tony Baldini leading the way, carding a 77 for the 18-hole round. Tim Hartzer, John Bognar, and George Lysak each shot scores of 84 for a team total of 329 strokes and one stroke behind the third-place finishers Mishawaka.

Although the Indian score was one point over that which would have qualified the team for further rounds, it served to show that the future is bright for golf fortunes at St. Joe with the return of two members of the tournament foursome and all three of the alternates.

Our stouthearted trackmen chalked up a pair of victories in nine meets during a "semi-successful season." Lack of strength in field events betrayed the Saints.

After losing the first four meets to Elkhart, Central, Goshen, and Washington-Clay, St. Joe placed third in a triangular meet at LaPorte. Later the cindermen dropped close decisions to Michigan City and Riley. But the few weeks in between netted St. Joe back-to-back victories, edging Washington and walloping New Carlisle. At Washington, both squads maintained an even pace going into the final event. Speedy Tom Gerencher brought the baton home in the 880 yard relay, and thus gained for St. Joe a 56—53 win. Against New Carlisle, the Saints won almost every event, scoring a 74—35 triumph. Final competition was the annual Penn Relays, a meet in which the Indians always have done well. The mile-relay team set a meet record; but St. Joe finished second, a half point behind Clay.

Consistent performers were Bob Samora, Mike Donaldson, Tom Gerencher, Larry Andrews, Bill Remmo, and a crack half-mile relay team of Mike Early, Denny Katovsich, Samora, and Gerencher.

Under Coach Moore's direction, the whole team helped build a new track, which will be ready for the 1963 season.

Tribe Knocks Off

St. Joseph's Indians came within a wisp of an unbeaten season. In fact, St. Joe in all justice — so our fans said all season — should have tied Washington. The Indians had successfully stopped Al Corothers; it was the last twenty-six seconds of the game, fourth down and six yards to go when the Panthers scored and added the point to win 13—7!

Many tears were shed after that loss; but from then on no one touched our Indians — nine straight victories! It was the best record ever against major competition. What's more, S. B. Central was beaten for the first time by any St. Joe football team.

At the season's end St. Joseph's stood eighth in the "Top Ten" of Indiana's best teams. Mr. Moore — who insists that his staff deserves the credit — won "Coach of the Year" award. Four senior Indians, guard Ron Jeziorski, fullback Mike Earley, end Mike Donaldson, and quarterback Hugh O'Malley were chosen members of the All-Area team. Donaldson went a long step higher by also being named on the All-State team. The Notre Dame Club presented Mike Earley its trophy for "Best Player of St. Joe Valley."

St. Joe's play featured an explosive offense of pounding backs and pin-point passing. The combination of O'Malley to Donaldson became quite famous in the area. Defense was hard-nosed, stingy with yardage for the enemy each game. Seasoned observers say that what particularly marked St. Joe's play all season was STEADINESS. Such dependability — ordinarily characteristic of the better college clubs — was undoubtedly due in great part to the unswerving guidance and no-answer demands of Coach Wally Moore and his staff.

Nine Foes After Opening Loss

And now for a review of the season . . . After the loss to Washington, St. Joe rolled to a 33—0 victory over Bishop Luers of Fort Wayne. Another Fort Wayne team, Central Catholic, fell the following week to the Indians 26—7. Things looked encouraging because this team had tied Central of South Bend.

Homecoming was made even more exciting by a real squeaker victory over powerful Riley. The difference was a blocked extra point (7—6). Our Indians successfully crossed the season's middle by turning a predicted "toss up" game with Gary Roosevelt into a 39—7 rout.

St. Joe quickly became a regular juggernaut and brought their total points to 270, tops in the state. Hammond Noll fell 20—0, Washington Clay 52—7, Lafayette C.C. 45—0, and Penn 42—0.

It is hard to believe that St. Joseph's came to the Central game tabbed the underdog. Well, that's the way the local press saw it. At any rate, we were a high-flying underdog. On the second play from scrimmage, Tom Gerencher swept the right end behind devastating blocking and scored from 60 yards out. For three quarters thereafter the game was characterized by some of the fierest head-knocking imaginable. Then another lightning thrust by the Indians, a 58-yard pass and run, O'Malley to Donaldson, sewed up the game 13—0.

Indian Victory Sweetens Homecoming

On the evening of September 27, the 1962 edition of the St. Joseph High School Homecoming took place at School Field preceeding the St. Joe—Riley football game.

The Queen, her court, and their escorts entered the stadium in five convertibles, led by an Avanti. Her majesty Elaine Bardick, escorted by senior class president Denis Springer, crossed to the center of the field where she was crowned "Queen of the 1962 Football Homecoming." Mike Donaldson, captain of the football team, then presented the Queen with a bouquet of red roses. Amidst cheers of expectation and the familiar tones of the school song played by the St. Joe Marching Band, the Queen and her court slowly departed from the field as the teams entered and began their pregame drills.

Before a capacity crowd, the St. Joe fans witnessed a spirited battle, as the Indians were 7—6 victors over a strong South Bend Riley contingent.

The evening was climaxed by a grand finale at Playland Park where the Queen and her court reigned, and an estimated 750 students danced to the music of the "Princeton Five."

PROUDLY DISPLAYING HER BOUQUET of roses, Homecoming Queen Elaine Bardick is escorted from the field by Denis Springer.

The 1962-63 St. Joseph basketball team used a well-balanced attack to compile an impressive 14—6 record. Definitely lacking in height, the team had to rely on speed and agility. Coach Richard Hendricks built his attack around five returning lettermen and two boys up from the B-team.

The main pre-season problem seemed to be the lack of a center, but Coach Hendricks placed John Koelndorfer at this post and John played very well. Mike Canfield, a new face on the squad, was the team's high scorer, averaging 16 points per game. Mike was also a strong rebounder. Al Van Huffel teamed with Canfield at the forward position. Al made up for his lack of scoring punch by ruggedness on defense. It was a toss up as to who was the better rebounder, he, John or Mike. Guard Dick Everett made the team go; he was the play-maker. Dick is an outstanding ballhandler and, at times, a very hot shooter. At the other guard position Bob Hanyzewski and Bob Holtz alternated as starters. Don Voorde also played a great deal at guard position. All three boys are good shooters and accounted for a large portion of the team's points.

The season started out against one of the finest teams in the state, city rival Central. The Bears, displaying mid-season form, walloped the Indians 77—47.

After a two-week rest, the Tribe faced cross-town foe Riley. The boys were much improved as they downed the Wildcats 56—50.

Produces Successful Campaign

The team proceeded to scalp Bishop Noll 74—49 before being upset by Hammond Morton in a very close game 64—60. The Saints then got back on the winning side, downing Niles 67—49.

Highly-touted Washington felt the Indians' wrath as the Tribe toppled the Panthers 63—60 in an overtime. The Indians' next foe, Hammond Clark, fell by a 63—60 score also.

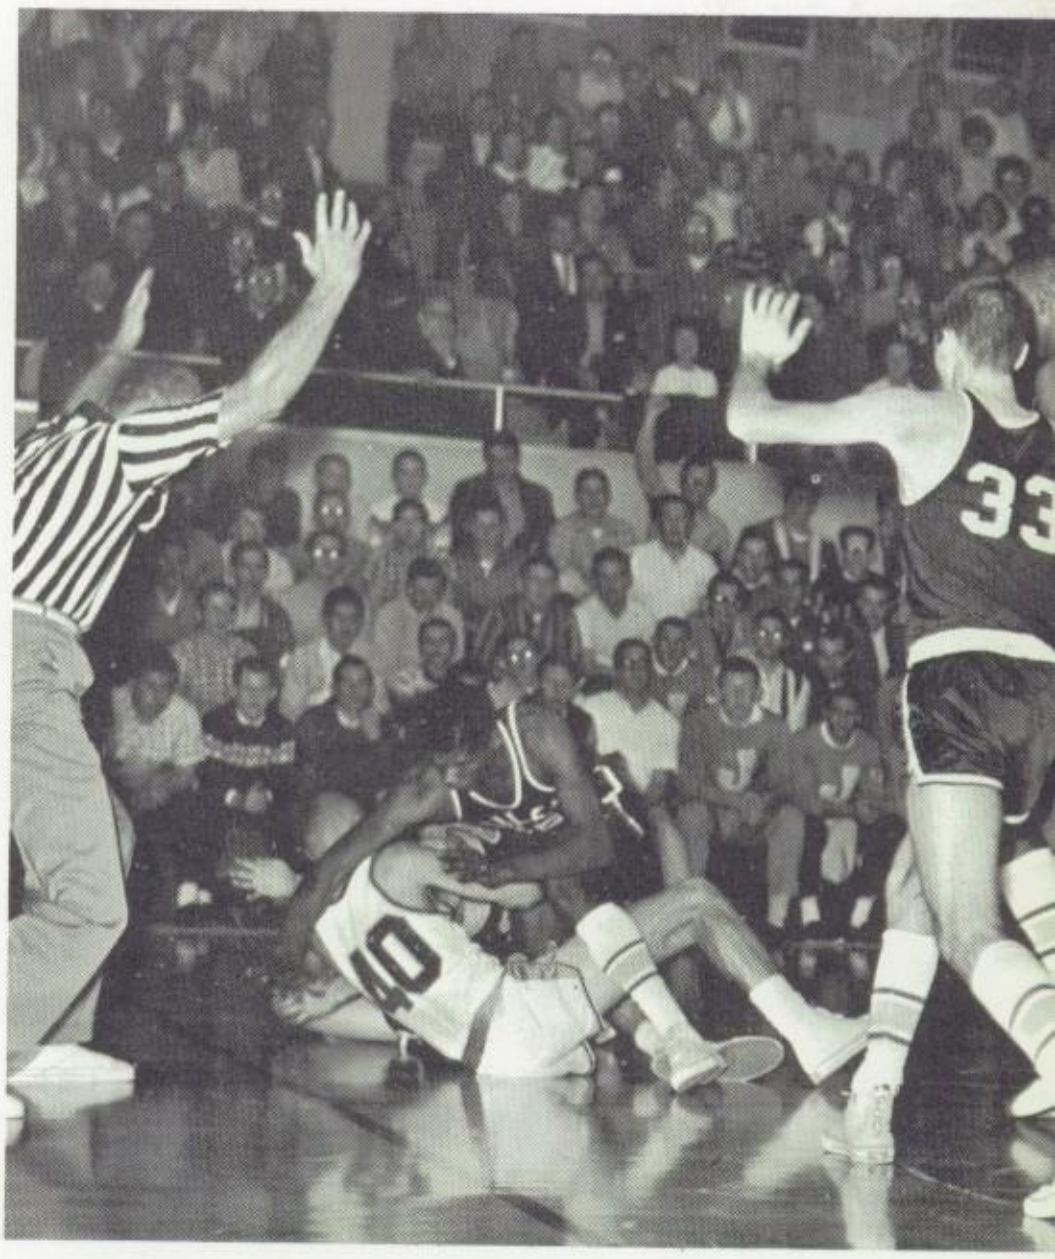
In the Holiday Tournament in Elkhart, the Blue Blazers dropped the Indians by 12 points, 59—47. In the consolation game — a real squeaker — St. Joe slipped by E. Chicago Roosevelt, 68—67.

The New Year opened on a sour note with our Indians losing to Adam's Eagles 55—50. The Tribe got on the winning trail again by trouncing Gary Andrean 72—49, only to succumb again to mighty Central. The score was closer than the first time, 63—48!

St. Joe then went on the warpath. The Indians scalped five teams in succession. The victims left along the victory trail were Concord (81—57), Culver Military (79—63), Lakeville (88—64), Washington-Clay (74—49), and diocesan foe Fort Wayne C.C. (74—58).

County champion Penn beat St. Joe 65—58 on Feb. 15, but the next evening the Indians bounced back with an 81—54 victory over Indianapolis Cathedral.

To close out the season the team traveled down to Fort Wayne to play the Knights of Bishop Luers. The Indians won 58—55.



"FOUL!" it looks like the referee is signaling; but it's just a spectacular scramble for the ball between Indian John Koelndorfer and Riley's Milt Pittman.

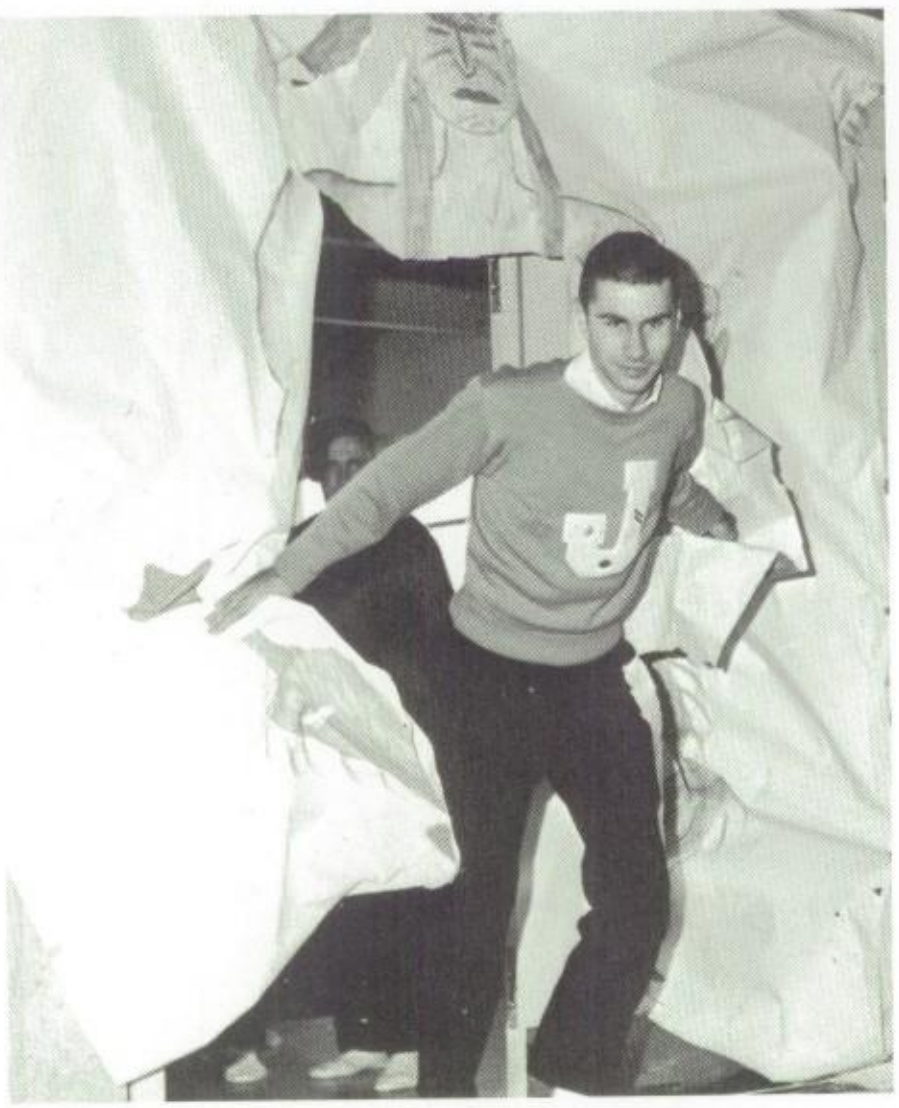
Gridiron and Cage Rallies Spur

PERSONIFYING THE EXPLOSIVENESS OF THE ST. JOE ELEVEN, Senior Jim Van Dyck bursts through the Indian barrier and races to his position at starting left end.



Possunt, qui posse videntur: They can who think they can. So goes the Latin proverb. Now a team really can't do much without ability, but, presuming it possesses talent — like ours does — belief of the players in themselves is a long stride towards victory. We'd like to think that St. Joseph's student support and the stimulation afforded by our assemblies had a great deal to do with our team's success. Student backing and enthusiasm touched the team — at least a little bit!

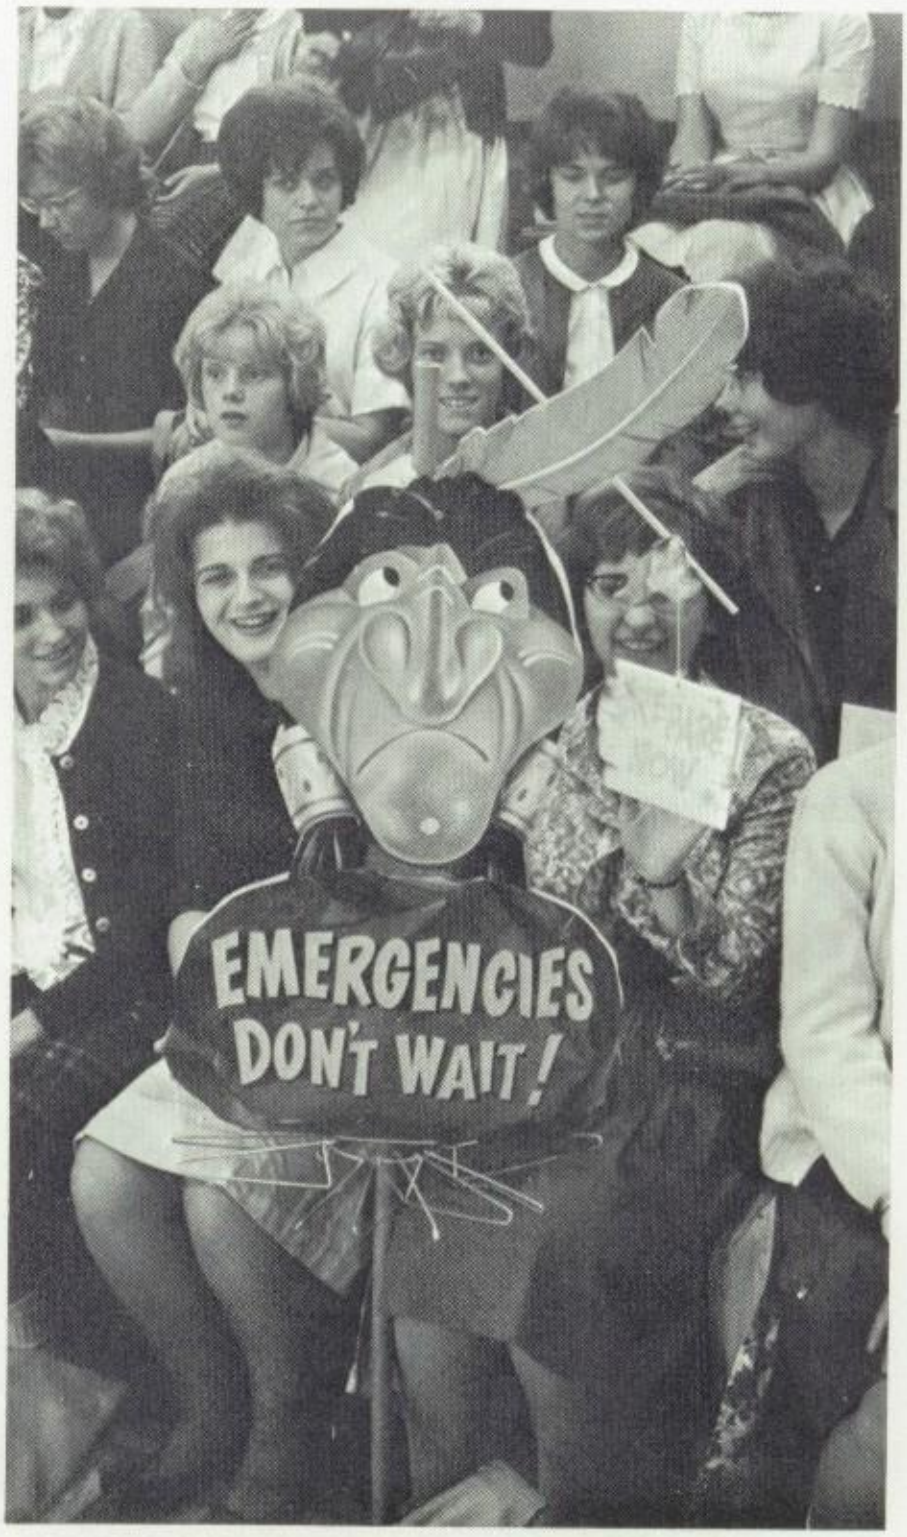
Student enthusiasm made classes that sponsored assemblies work a little harder than usual. This year's pep rallies were marked by clever thinking and good planning.

The seniors started the year with an outdoor football assembly, something that hasn't been tried in some time. The very rarity of it made this rally interesting. Before the Washington Clay game the Juniors staged an assembly that featured a Colonial-scalping skit. To start the basketball season the sophomores opened their assembly with an uproarious Mickey Mouse parade. School spirit for the Sectionals was aroused in the final pep rally of the year.

BEFORE THE TEAM'S DEPARTURE for the Gary Henclewski sparks some cheers in an outdoor assembly.

Tribe to Victory

SENIOR GIRL CHEERING SECTION — with "no-nonsense" Indian.



Nothing is more distinctive, coveted, and proudly worn at St. Joseph's than the blue sweater with the big white "J." It marks the distinguished athlete.

Last May Coach Gene Knutson awarded sixteen varsity letters for baseball, and Mr. Moore seven for track. The Kiwanis Awards for baseball and track went to Thomas Szajko and Larry Morningstar respectively.

For football Coach Moore named twenty-four athletes as recipients of varsity letters. Mr. John Lloyd presented the Kiwanis Award for football to Mike Donaldson. To Mike Earley as the outstanding football player in St. Joseph Valley went a towering, golden trophy presented by Mr. Tom Hanlon and Mr. Bill Meehan in the name of the Notre Dame Club.

While on the subject of awards it must be pointed out that our winningest football team presented autographed footballs to its coaches, Moore and Knutson.

Athletic lettermen have a chance to serve the school even more as members of the Monogram Club. It is monitored by Coach Moore and Brother James Bluma; and takes on such jobs as ushers at games, sponsors of dances and assemblies.

"KEEP THE SPECTATORS OFF THE FLOOR" — that's the order, and Jim Van Dyck holds the "border line."

Again this year St. Joseph's provided an outlet for the athletic ability of the non-varsity competitors.

The junior and senior intramural basketball teams fell into the spirit of the season about a month after the varsity's first game. The twelve junior and twelve senior teams vied for top honors in the games in their respective double elimination tournaments. Games took place every morning before classes. The early risers were under the supervision of the newest member of our coaching staff, Mr. Gene Viola. At the end of the first round the leading senior team soundly thumped the junior leaders 45—28. An added touch of glory was that this game preceded the varsity — Cathedral game.

The school facilities were also used in a weight-training program. Students interested in keeping in top physical condition were provided with supervised instruction in wrestling and tumbling, as well as weight-lifting. Coach Walter Moore was in charge of these activities.

ALBUM SECTION

This is the school: the student. It's not the plant or those that guide it. What makes St. Joseph a proud name, what puts heart into it, what gives it a reputation for learning and humanity, is the student. St. Joseph's is the sum of its members, and is only as strong as its weakest member.

Capable, Efficient Administration

Personal Secretary to Father Vrabely, Miss Eleanor Kellogg, keeps ahead of the correspondence.

St. Joseph's is blessed with an excellent administration. It would be difficult to find a better-trained, harder-working, more efficient or happier threesome than that that heads our school. Father John Vrabely, our Superintendent; Sister Mary of Good Counsel, C.S.C., Director of the Girls' Department; and Brother Reginald Justak, C.S.C., Director of the Boys' Department, are completely dedicated persons.

What goes for the administration must be repeated for our teachers. They possess a professional attitude toward studies. They spend endless hours investigating current topics, checking facts, reading around their subject areas. This simple and noble desire to know and to get constantly better at imparting knowledge doesn't end with the school year. The majority of our teachers spend their summers in pursuit of degrees.

In class the approach of our teachers is generally one of easy formality. Classes are for the most part purposefully quiet. Good teaching demands constant attention to the need of the student. Our teachers give this attention.

Our teachers have a sense of humor and laugh easily. Class work is often punctuated by laughter, ideally arising out of the work itself and not at cross purposes with it. All in all I would say that we St. Joseph students are very fortunate.

DOMINE NON SUM DIGNUS — Father Vrabely prepares to distribute Communion in the Sisters' chapel.

Seniors Leave Scholastic Heritage

The 1963 seniors have, throughout their four years at St. Joseph's, been distinguished by their sense of unity. There have been a minimum of dissensions among the members themselves, and toward the school there has been unflagging loyalty and cooperation.

There is an unusual amount of natural leadership in this group of seniors. It has manifested itself in a willingness to accept responsibility, but also in an active seeking of responsibility.

Seniors led the student body academically. There was high enrollment in the Advanced Placement Program in the Girls' Department; and, in addition, St. Joseph's ranked second in the city with five seniors as semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Program.

In activities associated with the regular school program, senior leadership was ever present. They led the student body at religious functions, also, with their united attendance at retreats and novenas.

The seniors played an important part in extra-curricular activities too. They formed an experienced core in school clubs, guiding and helping other students. Their efforts at assemblies and games helped generate school spirit. No one would argue against the contention that senior experience and ability was principally responsible for our athletic success.

BUSINESS IS GOOD — Senior girls make bookstore purchases, but no money is in sight!

At the beginning of the school year the class of '64 eagerly accepted the added responsibilites that come with upperclassman status. Academics demanded and got first call on junior energies. The class distinguished itself in that category.

Taking its cue from the seniors, the juniors, sunk deeply in a maze of activities, swelled the ranks of the twenty or so school-sponsored clubs from debating to missions. Besides, there were athletics, and here juniors did very well for themselves too, generally adding "bench" to more experienced senior efforts.

Juniors got involved in many traditional activities. They sponsored the Homecoming assembly in splendid fashion. The Farewell Dance for football and the Prom were other third-year efforts.

Greater and greater intellectual endeavor is demanded of the high schools. Special classes of all kinds, geared to better preparation for college, are in vogue. The wash of college demands also cuts deeper each year. Well do the juniors feel the pressure. A specific reminder was the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test.

1963 ended with St. Joseph's third-yearmen impatiently waiting their turn as kingpins in the school. They feel that they are ready.

JUNIOR CLASS MODERATOR, Sister Rose Veronica, and Sue Yancey, class president, look over a list of films for possible classroom use.

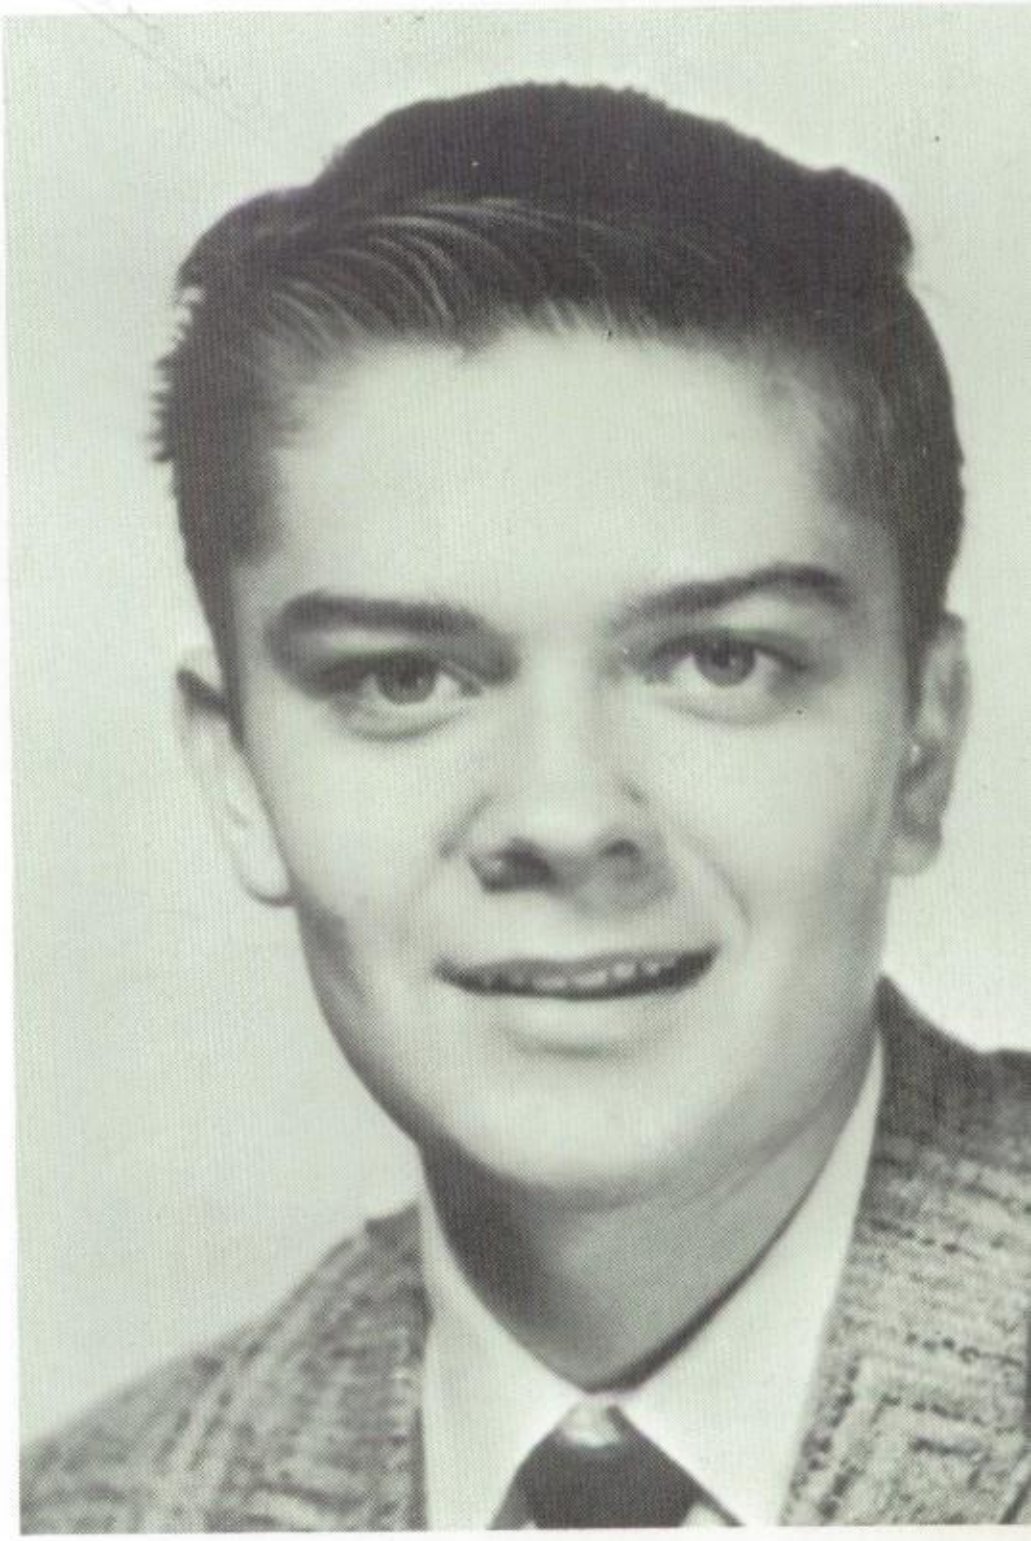
Kenneth M. Bilinski

Well-known, well-liked, well-respected, and ever remembered by all his fellow students. Ken's first two years at St. Joseph's were filled with class spirit and devotion to duty. Ever present at school functions, he will always remain a part of the Class of '64.



In Memory

O Lord Jesus Christ, King of glory, deliver the souls of all the faithful departed from the pains of hell and from the bottomless pit; deliver them from the lion's mouth, that hell swallow them not up, that they fall not into darkness, but let the holy standardbearer Michael bring them into that holy light which You promised of old to Abraham and to his seed.

We offer You, O Lord, sacrifices and prayers of praise; receive them in behalf of the soul of Kenneth. Grant that it may pass, O Lord, from death to that life which You promised of old to Abraham and to his seed.

— from the Offertory of the Mass of the Dead.

Sophs Take Another Step Forward

This year St. Joseph's sophomores are an unusually talented class. It is the faculty's consensus that the class has shown ambition, enthusiasm and a willingness to work. What's more the sophomores possess the leadership to get things done. Brother Daniel Kane, sophomore boys' moderator, has this to say: "The sophomores are very friendly, very easy to work with. Their intense desire to make a mark for themselves at St. Joe has made them almost pesty. They constantly are after their leaders for class activities."

What the sophomores have done they have done well. During the fall they staged two assemblies and one dance. The football assembly before the Washington-Clay game featured a Colonial-Indian skit.

The sophomores opened the basketball season with a de Mille-type spectacular. A Teddy Bear representing Central hung under the front basket. A Dixieland combo led a mammoth parade into the gym.

The Soph Mixer, a record hop, was sponsored by the girls' dept. Another dance in April, a more formal affair with a band and vocalist, was a financial success and its proceeds went to augment the treasury necessary to pay for the 1964 Prom.

BEFORE SCHOOL STUDY is no problem for Bernard Wostmann and Charles Nagy, but Tom Kierein finds geometry his most perplexing subject!

Frosh Accept New Responsibility

To the incoming freshman St. Joseph's presents a definite challenge which will inevitably contribute to the downfall of a few. In his first year he becomes acquainted with a whole new system of education, discipline, and general environment.

Through the various school social activities, he familiarizes himself with the diverse types of personalities he will be confronted with in everyday life. Various class activities, such as a group skating party, give him the opportunity to meet the members of his class. In this manner, he will develop many of the friendships which will give him a feeling of belonging and will help him become a member of the group.

Perhaps the most significant problem for the freshman is that of self-discipline with regard to his studies. He is no longer held under so close a watch as he became accustomed to in grade school. In order to do well scholastically he must bear down and budget his time.

Finally, religious instructions, through Holy Mass, retreats, and classes, aim at developing the freshman's spiritual life.

STUDYING AN ARTICLE on school dances, Freshman Class Sponsor Mr. de Vliegher and Class President David Babagnani make preparations for a mixer.

ANOTHER WEIGHTLIFTING SESSION begins with Coach Moore's precise and exhaustive instructions.

A New Challenge Beckons

The "Year of Challenge — 1963" has now come to a close. We have accepted the varied difficulties found in academics, social activities, and sports; and have strived to attain the goals set by them. While serious thought and deliberation may have governed the projects in science, responsibility on the lighter side was taken in planning the proms. A firm hope of victory predominated our athletic contests. With either success or failure, the outcome of these challenges shall always be remembered. Now an entirely different challenge — one requiring constant thought and decision — presents itself in the new society we meet after our years at St. Joseph's.
